Reds Get 2-Day Truce Recess; Break Possible

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Communists today obtained a two-day extension of a recess in secret armistice talks shortly after the Peiping Red radio broadcast an announcement that could lead to a break in the deadlock over prisoners.

The broadcast said Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai announced Communist China adhered—with certain reservations—to the Geneva convention of Aug. 12, 1949, dealing with war prisoners.

May Accept Proposal
The broadcast seemed to suggest that the Communists might agree to transfer of Red war prisoners who refuse to go home to a mutually agreeable third protective power or a substitute organization such as the All-Swiss International Committee of the Red Cross.

More than half of the 170,000 Red prisoners in United Nations stockades have declared themselves unwilling to return to North Korea and Red China. The U. N. says it will not force them back. The Communists demand their return.

Allied officers here declined comment on the Peiping broadcast.

The Communist request for the two-day recess was made by a liaison officer at Panmunjom 2½ hours before the delegates were scheduled to resume secret talks which have been in recess since Monday.

The Communists gave no reason.

Meet Again Thursday
The belief persisted here that they were studying a possible new United Nations statement or proposal that may have cropped up during the current secret sessions which began July 4. Red delegates have called other recesses for such a purpose.

The U. N. command had anticipated the new delay and the U. N. liaison officer was authorized in advance to okay it.

The five-man armistice delegations will reconvene Friday at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Thursday, EST).

Michigan Democratic Delegation, Bossed By CIO, Faces 3 Fights

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING — (AP) — Led by a CIO faction, the Michigan delegation to the Democratic national convention rebelled today against voting under the unit rule.

The rule, which requires the state's 40 votes to be cast as the majority decides, was imposed by the state convention in Grand Rapids last spring.

Spinster Leaves Hidden Fortune

DETROIT — (AP) — An elderly spinster, whose ramshackle old East Side home has been found to be a veritable Fort Knox, with nearly $300,000 stashed away, also had $36,838 in five Detroit banks.

This was disclosed today as a federal tax agent and bug-eyed searchers picked their way further through dusty old boxes and containers in the home of Miss Emma Schuknecht, who died last week.

With several of the nine rooms still to be explored, there was no telling what the total cache would be.

Five neatly wrapped packages containing $54,544 in bills and coins were discovered yesterday in the 76-year-old woman's bedroom closet.

The first indication of the lonely woman's wealth was found last week when Mrs. Tillie Stoltz, administratrix and cousin of Miss Schuknecht, found a strong box in the bedroom closet. A quick check of the box revealed an estimated $125,000 in cash and other properties.

Miss Schuknecht was a retired drapery cutter. Relatives, unable to account for her apparent wealth, said she had lived frugally and had inherited some property from her brother.

Mrs. Stoltz said the woman had never executed a will despite repeated urgings to do so.

In an all day search yesterday, relatives aided by employees of the county treasurer's office, managed to clear only one room of the eight room house belonging to Miss Schuknecht.

The $54,544 consisted of bills ranging to $1,000 notes and also included old gold notes.

Forest Fire Blackens Over 3,000 Acres Of Washington Timber

WHITE SALMON, Wash. — (AP) — More than 3,000 acres of timberland near this southern Washington town have been charred by a forest fire which has raged out of control since Monday.

The fire, the first of major proportions in the Pacific northwest this year, is racing toward additional thousands of acres of timber. Winds of 20 to 30 miles an hour are pushing the blaze.

Low humidity has increased the fire danger to the woods for the past week a number of national forest areas in both Oregon and Washington have been closed to logging and recreationists.

President Enters Hospital, Cancels All Appointments

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman entered the Army's Walter Reed Hospital today for a check-up.

The President was stricken with a mild virus infection on Sunday. It had been described by his aides as not serious, but all his appointments had been cancelled this week.

Press Secretary Joseph Short told reporters the President may remain at the hospital for "two or three days."

The virus infection, Short said, has been pretty much cleared up. He said Truman's fever "has about gone."

The President left the White House at 6:40 a. m. (EST) and entered the hospital 20 minutes later. He was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, presidential physician.

White House reporters could not recall that Truman ever entered a hospital for as long as two or three days since he became President more than seven years ago.

Truman was admitted to the presidential suite at the big military hospital in northwest Washington.

This marked the first time the suite was used by the President since it was prepared for him several years ago.

'Voice Of America' Made Louder Behind The Iron Curtain

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The State Department said today the Voice of America will be made a lot louder now that Russians may no longer learn about life in the U. S. A. from the magazine Amerika, which has been suspended.

The department said its radio programs beamed behind the Iron Curtain will be intensified by use of new transmitters and the addition of new languages and new features.

Boat Blows Up At Detroit Dock

DETROIT — (AP) — An 18-foot speedboat blew up in the Detroit River near Belle Isle early today and there was no immediate clue to the fate of five men seen aboard the craft only moments earlier.

Dragging operations failed to turn up any trace of any blast victims.

Police theorized that the boat, "The Red Mill", might have been stolen and was being fueled with stolen gasoline from the police harbor master's pump when it caught fire.

In this case, police said, the five persons seen on the boat might have had time to flee before the flames reached the fuel tank and caused the explosion. The craft was wrecked.

Police searched Belle Isle, a recreation island only a couple of miles from downtown Detroit, on the possibility the men might have fled there.

It believes this will offset the loss of the seven-year-old Amerika, the lavishly printed magazine which told Russians in their language about the U. S. It was suspended by the State Department yesterday after years of squabbling with Moscow over its distribution.

At the same time, the department ordered Russia to cease publishing immediately its information bulletin in the United States.

Dr. Wilson Compton, head of the "campaign of truth," said today these steps are being taken to build up the Voice of America.

Democrats Sure Of Battle Royal

By RICHARD MORIN
CHICAGO — (AP) — The two leading contenders for the Democratic Presidential nomination—according to current estimates—were heading for Chicago today, plunging into a free-swinging battle royal unlike anything the party has seen in 20 years.

Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Richard Brevard Russell of Georgia were both due on the scene of the convention.

It opens formally on Monday, but the pre-convention pace already has reached a high point in claims and counter-claims, accusations and denials. The situation—involved five avowed candidates, seven "favorite sons" and a number of other probabilities—looks riotously confused.

Spokesmen for two of the supposed "probables," President Truman and Adlai Stevenson, governor of Illinois issued statements yesterday that should remove both from the list.

Regarding the President—national committee chairman Frank McKinney said he had a two-hour conference in the White House last Sunday, and that Truman told him: "I meant what I said about not running. . . I've served my time." Moreover, McKinney continued, he would consider it his duty to discourage any attempts, from the convention floor, to start a draft movement aimed at the President.

Regarding Stevenson—his first and biggest booster, Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, said "the governor has tied my hands. As a matter of practical politics it is almost impossible to nominate a man under these circumstances. I doubt that it will be done now."

Union And Big 6 Can Not Agree On Union Shop

By JOHN MOODY
PITTSBURGH — (AP) — The 170-member wage-policy committee of the CIO United Steelworkers meets in Pittsburgh Monday to decide the union's future course in the 45-day-old stalemated strike that has idled a million and a half American wage earners.

USW President Philip Murray called the policy committee meeting after a brief negotiating session with the industry ended in a deadlock yesterday.

Told To Stand By
Murray and Joseph M. Larkin, vice-president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., issued a joint statement saying both sides agree they can find no common meeting ground on the controversial union shop issue. There was no indication when another meeting would be held.

Some observers said the next move in the crippling strike is likely to come from the White House. Presidential assistant John R. Steelman spent a long time on the telephone talking to both union and industry to set up yesterday's session.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Murray and Larkin informed Steelman they failed to reach agreement. They were told to stand by for further word from the White House—but it didn't come immediately.

The industry said the roadblock to a settlement "continues to be union insistence upon compulsory unionism."

Smaller Firms Sign
The industry said its latest offer increased benefits which would total approximately 25 cents an hour for men now averaging about $1.96 an hour.

The proposal as defined by the Allies Bombard Red Rail Yards

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR
SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — American carrier planes fired power plants at Changjin reservoir in northeast Korea yesterday. The battleship Iowa blasted Red rail yards and coastal guns with one ton projectiles.

On the ground, U. N. infantrymen fought off a tank-supported night attack against a key hill position on the central front.

Allied troops wrested the hill from the Reds last month. Five Red tanks shelled the hill for four hours last night. Then for two hours communist troops battled unsuccessfully to reach its heights.

Elsewhere on the front, there was only sporadic patrol skirmishes.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said American Sabre jets shot down a Communist jet in one of three encounters today with elements of more than 50 MIGs.

Capt. Arthur H. McCarthy of Dearborn, Mich., who was credited with the MIG kill, said the Red fighters were "the best MIG pilots I have seen up there yet."

Low hanging clouds limited air strikes but F-80 Shooting Star jets pierced the cloud banks and destroyed 26 supply shelters behind the Red frontlines northwest of Chorwon. Results of two other strikes north of Kumsong and a third north of Pyongyang were not observed.

Housing Credit To Be Relaxed

By CHARLES MOLONY
WASHINGTON — (AP) — If you have a dream house in mind but not much cash in the bank, you may be able to swing the deal in September, or possibly August. Government requirements for stiff cash down payments may be erased by then.

Government officials expressed this belief privately today, following announcement by two agencies administering housing credit controls virtually assuring that curbs fixing minimum cash payments on houses will be eased "not later than Oct. 1."

The Federal Reserve Board and the Housing and Home Finance Agency said yesterday if the number of houses started under construction in June, July and August holds below the rate of 1,200,000 a year, the required down payment will be cut to five per cent "not later than October 1" under terms of an act of Congress.

But officials told a reporter later that the agencies, acting on their own, probably will drop the controls in September—and possibly late August—if they see the drastic easing is inevitable anyway.

In either event, the benefits will go chiefly to buyers of houses in the upper cost brackets—particularly those in the $25,000-up class. At present, the controls already permit houses costing under $7,000 to be bought by veterans for nothing down and by the general public for only a five per cent down payment—if they can swing a deal on that little cash.

Horseplay In Boat Fatal; Police Hold 2 Battle Creek Men

HASTINGS, Mich. — (AP) — Two companions of a 23-year old Battle Creek youth who drowned yesterday in Larabee Lake, today were held for investigation by Barry county authorities.

The youth, Dale Sellers, drowned while fishing on the lake, located eight miles south of Hastings.

His companions, 26-year old Leonard Thurman, and his brother, Spencer, 22, both of Battle Creek, told authorities the three engaged in "horseplay" after consuming several bottles of beer.

Deputies quoted the companions as saying they took turns pushing each other out of their boat. Sellers, unable to swim, failed to come up.

Sellers' body was recovered from 40 feet of water.

Eisenhower May Cut Loose With Advance Speeches

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reportedly is thinking about cutting loose with two or more major speeches next month in advance of the official start of the Republican presidential campaign after Labor Day.

Eisenhower, the GOP nominee for the White House, probably will make no final decision until he returns next week from a trout fishing vacation high in the Rocky Mountains. He plans to leave tomorrow for St. Louis Creek near an old friend's ranch at Fraser, Colo., about 70 miles west of Denver.

Argentine Press Attacks U. S. A.

By FRED L. STROZIER

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, — (AP) — The new U. S. ambassador to Argentina, Albert F. Nuffer, arrives in Buenos Aires today to find a violent anti-Yankee campaign underway from both official and unofficial sources.

It is assumed that Nuffer, a 56-year-old career diplomat, will follow the "correct but cool" policy set for his predecessor, Ellsworth Bunker.

This means that he probably is under instructions to make no deals, ask no favors and ignore the daily attacks on the U. S. and its government from the press and officials, led by Argentine President Juan D. Peron.

The Argentine anti-U. S. campaign has taken several forms lately. Among them are:

1. The recent bombing of the U. S. information center in Buenos Aires. Washington made an official protest to the Argentine government over this. Argentine officials blamed the bombing on "Communists."

2. A detailed press campaign both in Argentina and in neighboring countries against mutual aid treaties which the U. S. has concluded with six Latin American nations. The pro-government press in Argentina charges that the nations concluding the pacts are surrendering their sovereignty to the U. S.

3. Persistent charges of U. S. economic aggression against such Latin American raw materials as Bolivian tin and Chilean copper. These charges capitalize on difficulties each of these countries has had with Washington over the sale of their products.

4. Claims of cultural aggression through the entry of U. S. books, magazines and movies into Latin America.

Truman Says He Has Had Enough; Won't Run Again

CHICAGO — (AP) — President Truman has reiterated that he is not a candidate for reelection, says Frank McKinney, Democratic national chairman of the Democratic national committee.

McKinney, at a news conference yesterday, quoted the President as telling him in a conference at the White House Sunday: "I meant what I said about not running. I've served my time. This is a man-killing job. You wouldn't want to see me carried out of here in a pine-board box, would you?"

McKinney said the President will not come to the convention next week until after a candidate is nominated.

The friend and ranch owner, insurance man Aksel Nielsen, will be Eisenhower's only companion. They intend to do their own cooking—an art at which Mrs. Eisenhower says the general outshines her.

Aides said Eisenhower has received scores of invitations from all sections of the country asking him to make speeches. They told this reporter the bids are being studied and that some may be accepted.

Since the general arrived here from Chicago, where he won the GOP nomination last Friday, there has been talk by persons close to him that Eisenhower may address a national convention of one of the veterans organizations.

Both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold national conclaves next month—the Legion in New York and the VFW in Los Angeles. But there was no immediate indication at Eisenhower headquarters whether the general might go to one or the other of those conventions.

Eager To Get Going
A decision to do some preliminary campaigning in August would indicate the general is against the idea of marking time until about the middle of September.

Vice Orgies Bared At Michigan Prison

LANSING — (AP) — Rioting convicts indulged in a bestial sex orgy beyond description during the bloody April riot and mutiny at Southern Michigan prison. Attorney General Frank G. Millard reported today.

The attorney general said his investigators of the million-dollar riot obtained testimony "which certainly should not be reduced to print."

"Wolf-Packs" Roam

"The testimony definitely shows," Millard said, "that so-called 'wolf-packs' roamed the prison at will, forcibly attacking numerous inmates and otherwise indulging themselves in those cases where force was not necessary. We have been able to definitely charge only a very few by reason of our inability to obtain evidence directly identifying many of the offenders, even though medical testimony was

Foe Of Fair Deal Wins In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — United States senator Harry F. Byrd, a bitter foe of New Deal-Fair Deal spending, won a smashing victory for re-nomination to the Senate in yesterday's Democratic primary.

Byrd, who said the major issue in the rough and tumble campaign was "Trumanism," was leading his Oxford-educated opponent, Francis Pickens Miller by 210,625 votes to 124,803 when the Associated Press ceased tabulation of returns with reports from 1,673 of the state's 1,783 precincts.

The primary victory places the senator in a strong position at the state Democratic convention in Roanoke Thursday when 28 delegates will be named to the Democratic national convention. Byrd is supporting Senator Richard Russell of Georgia for the presidential nomination.

During the campaign, most heated in a generation in Virginia, Miller contended that Byrd was more Republican, on the basis of his votes in Congress than Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Byrd made much of Miller's statement before the campaign started that on every one of the great issues which had confronted him President Truman had made the right decision. However, during the campaign Miller denied that he supported many of the Truman-backed measures in Congress.

Four Hurt As Car Overturns

Two young people were in St. Francis Hospital this morning and two others were suffering from less severe injuries after an auto accident night in which their car went out of control and overturned three times on Lake Shore Drive.

The accident victims taken to the hospital:

Carlton J. Larsen, 17, of 615 1st Ave. S., the driver of the car, suffering from chest injuries and is being held under observation; and Charlotte Rigoni, 23, of 310 S. 14th St., with lacerations and bruises of the back, right hand and leg and other possible internal injuries not yet determined.

Excessive Speed Cited

The two other injured parties are Dolores Kuzzala, 20, of 310 S. 14th St., and Bruce Jesson, 18, of 309 S. 5th St.

The girl received bruises and lacerations of the right side of the body and Jesson sustained lacerations and bruises of the left side of the face and chest.

After investigation of the mishap which occurred at about 12:10 this morning, police reported that Larsen was traveling at an excessive speed and apparently drove off the side of the road and lost control of the car. The accident in the 1900 block of Lake Shore Drive.

Skidded 200 Feet

The car skidded more than 200 feet on the Drive, then presumably hit an object on the surface, causing it to jump about 14 feet in the air and then to overturn three times.

It came to rest in the 2200 block of the street.

Larsen was thrown out of the car after the last roll. In the front seat with him were Charlotte Rigoni and Jesson.

Another passenger, Donald Koish, 18, of 114 N. 21st St., who was riding in the back seat of the car, was uninjured.

Larsen told police this morning that he thought the car got a flat tire when it hit a bump in the road, causing him to lose control of the car.

Police reported that charges would be pressed against Larsen.

Thieves Take Third Car In Burglary Series

GLADSTONE — A third stolen car, this one taken in Rapid River yesterday, was reported by Gladstone State Police as the latest in a series of auto thefts begun Monday in St. Ignace.

The car, belonging to Walter Peters, was taken between 6 and 8 a. m. Tuesday morning.

State Police connect it with two others that occurred in St. Ignace and Manistique Monday night.

The St. Ignace vehicle, a pickup truck, was abandoned in Manistique Monday night and a car owned by Mrs. Ed LaRose was taken by the offenders a short distance from that spot. Apparent connection of those thefts with the stolen Peters car was cited when the abandoned LaRose car was found in Rapid River.

Investigation of information leads police to believe the thieves are a pair of youths.

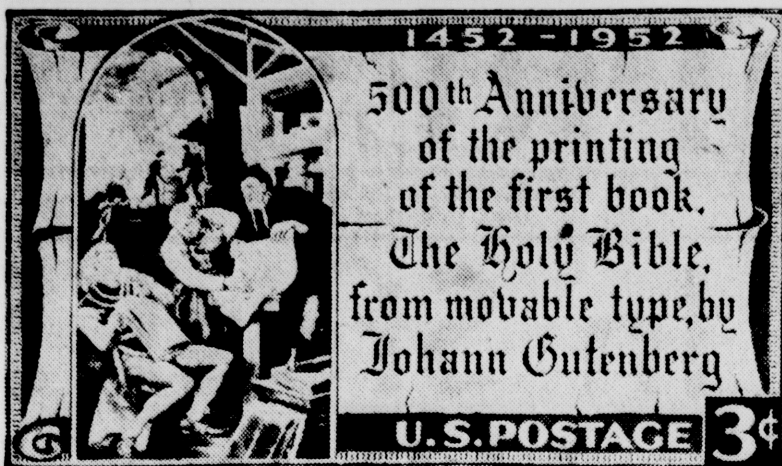

More Eligible For Social Security Benefit Payments

When the owners or partners of trades and businesses filed their 1951 income and self-employment income reports—and paid the taxes due—they acquired four of the six "quarters of coverage" necessary for old-age and survivors insurance protection under the social security law. Carl Johnson, Manager of the Escanaba office of the Social Security Administration said today. Mr. Johnson reported that a number of claims of persons 65 or over had been filed since January 1, because the four "quarters of coverage" from 1951 self-employment added to previously earned wage credits made them insured. Some of them had substantial earnings in 1951 and have quit business.

Many others have never had any coverage under social security before and find that the past quarter (April, May, and June) was the sixth "quarter of coverage" needed to make them insured. Those who will be 65 before July 1, 1954, find that they need only the six quarters to be able to draw benefits at retirement.

School Building Policy Debated

Representatives of four building trades unions conferred with the Escanaba Board of Education last night concerning the board's policy on construction programs.

The issue developed over the board's plans to construct a workshop at the technical building, utilizing custodial labor employed by the schools and several men teachers. The trade unions objected and suggested that the board advertise the project for bids.

The lowest bid submitted was $2284, with the board providing materials costing $397. John Bartel, head custodian of the school system, estimated that the board could do the work with its own labor for $1664, including the $397 in materials not included in the bids submitted by contractors. The board rejected the bids.

Unopposed To Maintenance
Representatives of the building trades unions who attended the board meeting last night were Ben Applin, of the electrical union; Lawrence Peterson, plumbers' union; Jim Davidson, carpenters' union; and Helmer Nelson, masons' union.

The union representatives informed the board that they are opposed to new construction projects being performed by school employees, particularly teachers.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the board's policy has been to do its own construction work not exceeding $2,000 in cost, but that projects in excess of this cost would be let on bids and performed by private contractors.

Need Year-Around Custodians
Union representatives contended that this project is in reality in excess of $2,000, based upon the bids submitted by contractors.

In a statement of policy approved by the board, it was stressed that to secure competent custodians the board must hire them on a 12-month basis and that maintenance and small construction projects make it possible to employ them the year around. The union representatives will report the results of the conference to their respective unions. The board has consented to delay construction of the project temporarily.

Revised Trailer Law Proposed

The city planning commission voted last night to recommend to the City Council that house trailer occupants be given about one year to find permanent dwellings.

The recommendation is embodied in an amendment to the present trailer ordinance which was found to be misleading and unsatisfactory in some aspects. The amended ordinance will be submitted for approval to the City Council.

The review of the present ordinance was earlier referred to the commission's zoning committee for study.

The trailer law now in effect allows transient but not permanent trailer coach dwelling by limiting to six months the stay of a trailer on a city trailer park.

Sets Definite Date

It also provides for year-round occupation of a site by dwellers who were living in trailers at the time the ordinance was passed. They must, however, annually renew their permits to stay on the location.

The portion which was amended provides for the establishing of a definite date by which time trailer coach occupants must have found other living quarters. The date is one full year after the effective date of the amended ordinance.

The amended paragraphs read as follows:

"The occupants of all trailer coaches continuously in use thirty (30) days prior to the effective date of this ordinance shall register with the City Assessor. No permit shall be required of such occupants and they shall be given two years from the effective date of Ordinance 195 (the present ordinance) in which to seek living accommodations other than trailer coaches. Provided, however, that the Board of Appeals . . . may extend such period up to but not later than one year from the effective date of this ordinance.

Use Commercial Areas

"Section 101.1 Trailers Not Permitted To Move. Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to permit any trailer coach now located within the city of Escanaba to be moved to another site within the city. Provided, however, that in an emergency, the Board of Appeals may permit the relocation of said trailer coaches under Ordinance 195 in areas other than the zoned "Residential" or "Local Business".

Trailers are now also prohibited now from being parked in residential areas. They must locate in commercial-zone sections of the city.

In other action last night the commission moved to submit to the City Council a precise plat of an acreage bordered by 5th and 8th Avenues South and 19th and 23rd Streets.

One correction was made in the plat as presented by planning director Robert Clayton in re-directing 6th Avenue South between 19th and 21st Streets to inflict least possible hardship on the occupants of the area.

Aids in Street Design

Platting of the area is necessary to prevent land owners there from continuing to build homes on lines that will logically become streets and avenues in development plan of the city.

The commission also considered disposition of city-owned lake frontage property east of the Athletic Field. No action was taken on this matter, the members choosing to individually consider the matter first.

Present at last night's meeting in City Hall were commission chairman E. H. Neiderauer, commissioners Dale Vinette, J. J. Bartella, A. M. Gilbert, Joseph Ivans and Clayton.

He Learns To Dive To Hunt His Teeth

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — (AP) — Charles McBride learned about diving in a hurry—his false teeth popped out and fell into the Tennessee river at the boat harbor near here.

McBride borrowed a diving rig and began searching the river bottom for his lost molars.

He found the lower plate Monday. He's still diving for the upper.

McBride has only one misgiving about the diving: "I'd hate to see one of these big Tennessee river catfish grinning at me with my own teeth."

Suspension Of U. S. Magazine In Soviet Russia Is Serious Error

THE State Department's action in suspending publication of its Russian-language magazine, "Amerika," which it has been distributing in Russia, is, we believe, a grave error.

Even conceding that the publication has run into opposition from the Russian government and that the Reds have been obstructing full distribution of the magazine, the evidence shows conclusively that it has been helpful in creating a better picture of American life among the Soviet people. The magazine was so popular, in fact, that all copies were sold out at newsstands within a few hours after they were placed on sale. Further evidence of the popularity of the American publication is the fact that second-hand copies were actually being black-marketed at many times the original price.

The State Department ordered publication ceased because of obstructionist tactics by the Russian government and also, apparently, because the State Department wants to force the Russian government to quit publishing and distributing Russian pamphlets in the United States.

We are spending many hundreds of thousands of dollars to beam our radio programs behind the Iron Curtain, through the Voice of America. We are doing this in the face of the most intense opposition and obstructionist tactics from the Russian government. When Moscow tried to drown out our programs, we increased the power output, changed frequencies and used every trick at our command in efforts to break through the Iron Curtain.

And yet we have voluntarily quit publication of a magazine that was helping to accomplish the same mission—and in a way that only the printed word can do. We know the publication was extremely popular with the Russian people, but because Russian obstructionist tactics reduced our distribution from 50,000 copies monthly to only 13,000 copies monthly, we have decided to call it quits.

It may well be that our 13,000 copies are doing almost as effective a job as the 50,000 copies that we were distributing before, because of the avid interest that has developed in the publication by Russian readers.

The Russian pamphlets being distributed in this country may be a nuisance to us but surely we can withstand the pressures of Russian propaganda.

In any case, we stand to lose more by abandoning the distribution of "Amerika" in Russia than we stand to gain by forcing the Russians to quit the distribution of their pamphlets in this country. This statement is true because liberty and freedom, the American way of life, is naturally more attractive to people than Communism with its Godless leadership, its secret police and its concentration camps.

Other Editorial Comments

MUSIC AT MIDDAY (Christian Science Monitor)

New York may be to some people a place of skyscrapers and jazz, of sweltering crowds and the restless thrust of power. But it is also Mozart's Quintet for clarinet and strings in A major, played in minuscule Bryant Park behind the Public Library at high noon, with Benny Goodman at the clarinet and an audience of strollers and pausers drifting in from the screech and roar of the surrounding streets.

The name of Benny Goodman may suggest to some people that the occasion had a slight touch of the jam session about it. But we are assured that Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart set the tone of the affair, and that Mr. Goodman—like the sun-splashed little park nestling quietly among the skyscrapers—lent himself with grace and distinction to the Mozartian felicities of sound, even while some of the listeners sauntered about, reached in their paper bags, and dreamily masticated their peanut butter sandwiches.

Questions and Answers

Q—Why do garnets vary in color?
A—The range of colors is due to differences of chemical composition. That is why you find some red, yellow, brown and green garnets.

Q—What became of the Mayflower after it brought the Pilgrims to America?
A—The Mayflower was broken up some time after it carried the Pilgrims from England to America and its beams were used to build a barn in England.

UNCLE EF

When a boy begins to complain it's too hot to go to Sunday school, don't take it too seriously. Our preacher says it may mean nothing more than that the girl he's been meeting there has been taken away on a vacation with her family.

Steel Strike Hurts America Deeply

THREE months ago President Truman thought the steel strike was so serious he seized the steel companies. The U. S. flag flew at mill gates, and workers went back to their jobs. Then the Supreme Court said the seizure was wrong, gave the mills back to their owners, and workers went out on strike again.

Today the rust of the idle steel mills is spreading far into the rest of the nation's economy, and the Office of Defense Mobilization has warned the strike had "wiped out virtually all the gain so far from the expansion program that has been under way since Korea."

But in Washington, it was as if in ruling that the seizure was illegal, the Supreme Court had also ruled there was no emergency.

President Truman turned a deaf ear to proposals that he use the Taft-Hartley law and accused the steel companies of "conspiracy against the public interest."

The CIO-United Steelworkers snatched at the accusation and used it as the basis of NLRB charges against the companies—ironically, under the provisions of the same Taft-Hartley law Truman wouldn't use.

The administration apparently has the idea it can safely nap in a rocking chair because nobody is going to pay much attention to an emergency while all that July politicking is going on in Chicago.

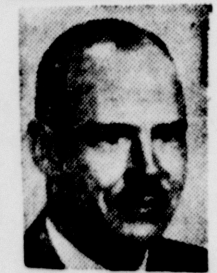

The administration might be in for a shock if the nation comes out of the convention smoke and finds itself suddenly running short of automobiles, tin cans, washing machines—and, even worse, armaments, tanks and military aircraft.

Hungry For News At Tacoma, Wash.

FOR another strike with different implications, take a look up in the northwest at Tacoma, Wash., where there hadn't been an issue of the city's only paper, the News-Tribune, since the pressmen walked out nearly three months ago.

Tacoma, hungry for the printed word, eagerly snatched up an eight-page daily put out by idled newsmen, but there were only 11,000 copies for 80,000 readers. And there were no ads. Without the printed page to tell readers what was on the shelves, business in Tacoma stores fell off as much as 35 per cent.

In its enforced idleness, the News-Tribune made dramatic proof that newspapers are just as vital to community life today as they ever were, despite all the claims of radio and television.

The Doctor Says... Strong Spirit Of Polio Patient Can Speed Muscle Recovery

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Great progress has been made in recent years in rehabilitating or improving the physical condition of those victims of polio who have been unfortunate enough to have serious muscular or crippling defects after the acute disease is over.

Indeed, many of those who at first look as if they will never be able to walk again eventually develop their muscles to a remarkable degree, and the permanent crippling is often far less than one would expect at first.

The first steps in the care of polio victims after the acute illness is over are to make sure that pain is relieved and to speed the relief of muscle tightness.

Until this is done, proper motion of the involved part, usually arm or leg, is impossible. The use of intelligently prescribed sedatives, heat, passive motion and especially the passage of time, all work toward this end.

Stimulating muscular movements must be carried out with great care. Several measures, including massage, may be necessary. Once the plan of action has been decided upon, it is possible to proceed with the various treatments which are necessary to bring about the greatest possible degree of muscular recovery.

Muscle strength is obtained by increasing the amount of activity gradually. Exercises under water help enormously. The water supports the limbs so that they can be moved with much less effort than is necessary in the air.

Walking should be begun carefully and gradually. Sometimes support with braces is advisable. In mild cases, restoring the muscles may take only a few weeks, but in severe ones it takes much longer. Improvement often continues for a very long time.

SURGEON MAY BE NEEDED

Surgery, such as the lengthening of a tendon, may be desirable. Special kinds of apparatus can be used. The patient may be taught to develop new motions which really mean the substitution of one muscular group for another. In all of these steps, patience and skill are important.

The results are rewarding because most of those who have been crippled can be greatly improved and eventually learn to take part in many physical activities. The spirit and ambition of the patient have much to do with the degrees of eventual improvement. In these respects many victims of polio are lessons to all of us.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — While most Democratic candidates are operating on a shoe-string, genial, Bible-quoting Senator Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, the oil millionaire seems to be spending money right and left.

Delegates to the forthcoming Democratic convention receive staggering amounts of printed material from the senator; several were offered $500 as "expense money" to attend a Kerr meeting at Salt Lake City, and Kerr flew a number of delegates to Salt Lake in his private plane.

On the heels of this, there turned up in Los Angeles the other day State Senator George of Kansas, who announced that he was working for Senator Kerr.

George called at Kefauver headquarters, explained that he realized the delegation must vote for Kefauver on the first ballot, but wanted them to know about Senator Kerr and vote for him in the case the Tennessee senator was no longer in the running.

In the afternoon of the same day, a man appeared at the office of the ticket agent for the Santa Fe who is handling the special Kefauver delegation train to Chicago. He called himself J. G. Wilson, and answered to exactly the same description as Senator George, even wearing exactly the same clothes—a lightweight summer suit of fine grain with a thin blue cord running through it.

WELL HEELED

Mr. "J. G. Wilson" took out of his pocket a bundle which when opened contained approximately $1,700 in ten and twenty dollar bills. He told the ticket agent that he wished to purchase seven lower and one double bedroom on the Kefauver train to Chicago, plus the regular train fare. The total cost was $1,607.52, which Mr. "J. G. Wilson" paid, and received deposit receipts.

Mr. "Wilson" asked the ticket agent to keep his deposit confidential and instructed him to issue Pullman tickets when any person came into the office with the ticket receipt.

The agent inquired where Mr. "Wilson" could be reached in case the people did not come for their tickets so that the deposit could be returned. Mr. "Wilson," however, said he was leaving town, would not be back and that the Santa Fe railroad would stand to earn a lot of money if the people did not come in for the tickets. He said he was temporarily staying at the Clark Hotel, but a check of its records showed that no man named "Wilson" was registered.

Next morning three Kefauver delegates received anonymous letters containing ticket receipts, instructing them that they could pick up their tickets at the Santa Fe office on presentation of the receipt. The delegates had no idea who the tickets were from or why they were getting them.

However, one delegate from Long Beach, L. A. Pipkin, who was eased out of the chairmanship of the original Kefauver committee, has been bitter against the other delegates and lunched with Senator George. Significantly, the delegates to whom free tickets were sent happened to be those friendly to Pipkin. Significantly also, when Mr. "Wilson" was at the Santa Fe ticket office, he told the agent to reserve a double bedroom for Pipkin.

Since California delegates are pledged by law to Senator Kefauver, any attempt to influence their vote by a free train trip might be a criminal offense. However, the three Kefauver delegates who got the ticket receipts in the mail are not biting and it looks as if the Santa Fe railroad would stand to win $1,607.52.

BUYING DELEGATES

Following this, another Kefauver booster, Wilbur E. Gette, a sub-alternate, got a telephone call from a man who introduced himself as a friend of State Senator George Luckey. He did not, however, associate himself with Luckey or pretend to represent him.

"I know that you campaigned with Luckey for Truman," the caller told Le Gette. "And we know a lot of you boys on the delegation need money. I'd like to talk it over with you."

"What do you mean?" asked Le Gette. "We need someone to arrange for three delegates to flop over to us after the first ballot," explained the caller.

Le Gette pointed out that the entire California delegation was committed to Kefauver on all ballots until released.

"That's all right," replied the caller. "I can make it worth your while. I'll pay your train fare, all expenses, plus $1,000 if you put the deal over for three delegates. I'll also take care of those delegates who swing from Kefauver. You can buy delegates, you know, for $500 to $1,000 a head."

H-Bomb Race on Savannah River On Schedule; Big Project Grows

Wheelled workers and materials loading from the plant as shifts change. Each day 11,000 private cars swarm in and out of the project, requiring 150 traffic officers to handle them.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN NEA Staff Correspondent

AUGUSTA, Ga. — (NEA) — America's most vital defense project, the Savannah River hydrogen bomb plant, is one of history's largest and most fabulous single construction jobs.

When this fantastically large and complicated plant is completed it should give America a new, commanding lead in the race with Russia to produce nuclear weapons.

And despite Congressional harassment, and weak support from government production officials, it is going up on schedule. That's the claim of Trumble Blake, engineer and spokesman for the E. I. duPont de Nemours Co., which is building the plant and will run it.

Some statistics reveal its almost unbelievable size. The site, on the East bank of the Savannah River in South Carolina, occupies 315 square miles. This is five times the size of the District of Columbia and about one-third the size of the whole state of Rhode Island.

More than 36,000 construction workers draw about $4 million a week. In the fall a peak of 45,000 workers is expected. The permanent employment at the plant is estimated at 7000.

The 32 million cubic yards of earth being moved for the various plants and roadways will fill a hole one-quarter of a mile square, more than 500 feet deep.

Each day 11,000 private cars swarm in and out of the project, requiring 150 traffic officers on the site. A crew of 25 men works on nothing but pest and insect control. The project has a complete weather station.

The $1.2 billion estimated cost makes it about one-third larger than the Hanford, Wash., atomic plant, which had been the world's biggest single construction job. That comparison includes increases in costs.

Today all but 15 families have been moved off the site. At a cost of $20 million, about 1500 persons with their homes and businesses, plus 4500 graves, will have been completely transplanted to nearby farms and towns. The small cities of Ellenton and Dunbarton are included.

Exact progress of construction of the plant and the date it will get into full operation are secret. Some of the 250 permanent buildings, scattered all over the site in individual areas, are completed. The rest, consisting of huge, strange-looking concrete and steel structures, factories resembling huge petroleum refineries, and gigantic power plants are in various stages of construction.

Wheelled trailers house Savannah River Hydrogen plant construction workers in hundreds of parks, like this one at Augusta, Ga. Most of 4000 available trailers are rented.

Trumble Blake, the key du Pont engineer, says: "We are right now on the time schedule we promised the AEC at the start of construction."

However, he admits that if production officials in Washington had given the plant a top priority for materials it would now be ahead of that schedule. Instead, the plant has had to compete for materials with far less important defense projects.

All the Atomic Energy Commission has said is that the plant will produce materials for both hydrogen and atomic bombs. It is assumed that this means the hydrogen substance known as tritium, basic ingredient in the H-bomb, and plutonium for A-bombs.

The project has been harassed by nine separate congressional investigations, proing such things as alleged loafing, discrimination and improper housing. Not one of them has resulted in a suggestion to the AEC or du Pont for changes.

Any person who is familiar with construction jobs can see evidence of good coordination. There is a minimum of loafing, plenty of signs of economy-minded management. All superintendents and key project men are in constant touch with an efficient communications system which includes eight wave channels.

Housing for workers has been a major headache. Based on previous experience, AEC and du Pont signed a contract with private firms to build barracks and set up trailer camps, and guaranteed to pay the difference in rent if they were not filled.

Approximately 3000 of the 4500 barracks rooms are empty. The trailers are full. However, a federal rent board ordered trailer rent cut from $82.50 per month to $60, and rent per week for double barracks rooms cut from $16 to $10.

An appeal has shown comparable housing in the area to be more expensive. The average worker gets more than $100 a week. If the appeal is denied and the barracks stay as empty as they are, the total bill for subsidizing the workers' rent will be $6,112,000.

However, the barracks, which are better than the average Army barracks, are slowly filling up. The jamming in nearby Augusta and Aiken could soon help fill the barracks completely.

Former citizens of Ellenton are now adjusting to their new environments and the citizens of adjoining towns are enjoying new prosperity.

The site was selected for the ample, mineral-free water supply of the Savannah River and because there was a lot of land with few people on it, located near much larger centers of population.

Good Evening...

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—The outdoor cooking season is on again, I fear, and it will be regarded as illegal to eat anything that has not been soured in olive oil and subjected to torture by charcoal grill. I came out a long time ago against he-cooks, but the craze must be getting worse.

It is bound to be getting worse, because I find myself out on my own front stoop the other day dousing me and the meat in enough oil to grease a channel swimmer and making passes in the air with turning forks and muttering weird incantations into the flickering flames. I had amassed enough equipment to open a restaurant, at frightful cost, and succeeded chiefly in burning the meat and singeing my eyebrows—which, heaven knows, were never very luxuriant in the first place.

A MESSY KITCHEN

A man must be mad to become a cook, and an outdoor chef at that, for it is so much more trouble than going to an air-conditioned restaurant and allowing the pros to feed you. A man cannot cook without mess. The few times I have tackled the chore of feeding myself the kitchen has appeared to have suffered a direct hit from a large bomb, and all sorts of horrid things are stuck to the walls and ceiling.

I note that my outdoor efforts are no less filled with frustration and scattered fragment of fish, flesh, and fowl. The steak is always well seared, though, because catching fire and falling onto the ground, a protective crust appears that magnificently seals in the juices. It seals them so well nobody can get at them.

I can burn an ear of corn more successfully than a flash fire in the field, and when I toss a salad, man, that salad knows it has been tossed. The track record for salad tossing is held by me, since fragments of tomatoes and lettuce have been found 20 feet from the mixing bowl.

As a lighter of charcoal fires I have improved greatly on the tactic of a friend, who always squirts lighter fluid on the briquets and wonders piteously why they don't leap into flame. I encourage my blaze with a flit gun filled with kerosene, which lends an interesting flavor to the steak whilst occasionally summoning the fire department to put papa out.

HE-COOKS ARE BORES

We narrowly averted a lawsuit the other evening when a fancy new electric spit for turning fowl suddenly went mad and stepped up its revolutions. It hurled the fowl, a rather large bird, like a catapult at a lady guest, spoiling her make-up, her gown, and completely ruining her esteem for her host. Harsh words and threats of financial balm for mental anguish followed.

It has occurred to me, also, that we have been wasting money hiring rain-makers to seed clouds and such, when the simplest process is to pay me a slight fee for an outdoor cooking party. All I have to do is reach for the apron and the asbestos mittens and the heavens open. Wet people eating wet food are an unpretty sight, and are apt to become surly.

One notices as time is going on that the cooking host is apt to get a mite stiffer than his wont, because fighting that blaze at close range induces thirst and additional impact from the quenching fluid. I used to wonder why all he-cooks keep a bottle of gin handy by the stove, and now I know.

We have not yet achieved the silly state of flaunting rugged male aprons with epigrams and cute admonitions printed on them, but I caught myself looking covetously at a chef's hat the other day, and the end is obviously in sight. In passing, I might say that he-cooks are the greatest living bores—for behold, I have just proved it.

Hiring By NPA Draws Criticism

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Civil Service Commission today took away from the National Production Authority (NPA) the right to hire its own workers because of irregularities in selecting employees last year.

It called for "corrective action"—meaning dismissal or new assignments—for possibly more than 100 NPA employees. In some cases, the commission said, veterans' preference in hiring was ignored.

The commission ruled that all future NPA hiring must be referred for prior approval to the department of commerce, the parent organization of the emergency production Agency.

Commerce department and NPA officials, questioned on the charges, said they will carry out the commission's orders completely and will cooperate fully in matters of hiring.

They did not deny that abuses had occurred, but said they were in 1951 when NPA was striving to build a staff quickly to deal with a mushrooming load of work in administering priority and allocation controls.

Many of the improper appointments, they said, were of day-to-day consultants or commodity specialists in the "WAE" category—meaning, paid only "when actually employed."

In many of the latter cases the one-year term of appointment has expired, officials said, and the appointees have left the agency.

The unusual announcement by the Civil Service Commission said that 11 per cent of NPA's appointees above the salary level of $3,410 a year were ineligible for their jobs at the time they were hired.

Inspection of NPA's personnel actions, the commission said, showed that the defense agency took on workers who were not on the civil service registers, while at the same time rejecting all names on the official lists of Civil Service eligibles.

Air Conditioning For Passenger Cars Perfect By GM

DETROIT — (AP)—General Motors today announced the perfection of an air conditioning system for passenger cars.

C. E. Wilson, GM president, said the air conditioning unit, developed after several years of experimentation, will be made available, as optional equipment, on the 1953 model Oldsmobile and Cadillac cars.

Wilson said the unit was tested on GM's desert proving grounds at Phoenix, Ariz.

The principal mechanism of the air conditioning unit will be located in the luggage compartment. Its operation follows closely that of air conditioning units now in service in offices and on railroad trains.

Wilson said the unit consists of a rotary compressor mounted on the engine and a completely sealed refrigeration mechanism using non-toxic freon mounted in the luggage compartment.

Tests have shown that the heat inside a car that has been standing in sun at high temperature can be reduced to a comfortable driving temperature within a distance of six city blocks.

Reds Adopt Ban On Germ Wars

By OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO — (AP)—Red China today conditionally recognized the Geneva convention banning germ warfare and setting rules for treatment of war prisoners.

United Nations officials here and in Korea would make no official comment on the Red announcements, made in separate broadcasts by Peiping radio.

Observers speculated the statements possibly meant:

1. The Reds had found a way to break the stalemate in Korean armistice talks over prisoner exchange.

2. Or it was a continuation of Communist charges that the United States had employed germ warfare in the Korean fighting. The U. S. repeatedly has denied the charges.

Added significance was attached to the Peiping broadcasts since they quoted Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai. Important pronouncements by the Red radio frequently have been reserved for Chou.

One broadcast said Chou had been authorized to recognize the Geneva protocol of June 17, 1925, and acceded to by Nationalist China on Aug. 7, 1929. It prohibits the use in war of poisonous gas and germ warfare.

The radio said, however, that "all other contracting and acceding powers" must observe them reciprocally.

The U. S. has not ratified the germ warfare provision and has withstood efforts of Russia's Jacob Malik in the United Nations to force the U. S. to sign.

Vice Orgies Among Convicts Revealed available as to acts committed.

"In some instances the victims themselves were afraid to testify for fear that greater harm will come to them should they do so. Testimony has been given of a number of instances where prisoners took younger inmates away from assaults and stayed together in groups for self-protection."

In his first report yesterday of his six weeks' long investigation of the riot, Millard asked warrants against 14 convicts for kidnapping, against six of sodomy and against three others for both kidnapping and sodomy.

The attorney planned to issue the final part of his report tomorrow.

Millard cited homosexuality at the prison in listing overcrowding as a contributing cause of the riot.

"The prison is so overcrowded," the report said, "that it has been necessary to use cots in the hallways in the quarantine cell block to house unscreened incoming inmates, including youthful offenders and aggressive homosexuals, and some of the young inmates there fall victim to homosexuality. We respectfully submit that every decent citizen would insist that these incoming prisoners be confined in cells prior to screening to prevent such atrocities."

Among the causes of the outbreak listed by the attorney was failure on part of the state corrections department to channel all orders and directives through the prison warden.

Tree-Kill Chemical No Wildlife Menace, Research Men State

LANISING—(AP)—New York and Pennsylvania research experts assure Michigan officials yesterday there was no serious menace to wildlife in a new process of killing trees with sodium arsenate.

The experts met with representatives of industry and the state Conservation Department to consider whether control measures were necessary because a deer and several rabbits were found to have died from eating the substance on a Michigan experimental plot.

Dr. J. W. Leonard, research administrator for the Conservation Department, said that New York has conducted lengthy experiments with the process on a 15,000-acre forest plot and that a Pennsylvania firm has had extensive experience with it. Both report little or no loss of animal life.

Dr. Leonard described the process as a valuable tool to permit better forest management. The chemical kills trees and loosens their bark so that pulp cutters may bank a supply of pulp on the stump.

Thunderjets Finish U. S.-Tokyo Flight, Longest In History

By MILO FARNETI

TOKYO — (AP)—Fifty-eight U. S. Thunderjets darted down onto Yokota Air Force base near Tokyo today, completing the biggest mass jet overwater flight in history—10,895 miles across the United States and the Pacific ocean from Turner Air Force base, Albany, Ga.

Fifty-nine were due but one exploded yesterday over Iwo Jima, south of Japan, killing the pilot, Lt. Col. Elmer DaRosa, Sacramento, Calif.

industry, calls for wage increases averaging 16 cents an hour, six paid holidays, improved vacations and increased shift differentials.

The industry said the union is now insisting upon elimination from bargaining an agreement to permit new employees to withdraw from the union after a specified time.

The union originally demanded a union shop, making it compulsory for all employees to join the union.

However, contracts have been signed with several smaller companies calling for a modified union shop. This permits new employees to withdraw from the union between the 20th and 30th day of employment.

Murray Blames Companies
Murray blamed the breakdown in negotiations on the industry. In a statement that disclosed the wage-policy committee meeting, he said:

"I regret to state that the long pending steel dispute still remains unsolved.

"The strike was forced upon the union by the industry. It continues because an unholy alliance within the industry remains unwilling to permit a fair settlement of the various issues in dispute."

"In accordance with the mandates of the union's international convention, I and my fellow officers have rejected the industry's falsely publicized last offer as inadequate."

"On the basis of the facts, the wage-policy committee will decide the union's future course of action."

met the pilots and told them they will go to Korea occasionally for combat.

Takeoff July 4
He called the mass flight "one evidence of our beefing up in the Far East, a beefing up in all types of planes."

Col. David Schilling, Kansas City, a pioneer jet ocean flier, led the flight of new model F-84G jets, first operational type equipped for aerial refueling.

The planes from the 31st fighter escort wing took off from Turner Air Base July 4 and made seven landings en route. They were refueled in flight several times from B-29 superfort tanker planes.

"It is a significant achievement," Weiland said. "The flight proves tactical airplanes can be moved to any part of the world at the drop of a hat."

Wayland told newsmen more Sabre jets—the only American fighter able to stand up the Communist MIG 15—are on the way also, "but we don't want to be too specific."

Reports from the United States indicate the Air Force is increasing its plane strength perhaps as much as 40 per cent to meet a potential drive by the Red air force of 1,800 to 2,000 planes.

Normally, the tanker planes refueled the Thunderjets in 2½ minutes.

Schilling said his pilots had little trouble in spanning the Pacific.

Tense Over Water

"You get kinda tense out in the middle of the Pacific, looking for the tanker planes," he said. "Then we ran into gooney birds (albatross) at Midway and picked up some of them in our air scoops."

Each plane flew with loaded machine guns and four extra gasoline tanks, two on the wings and two on the belly. The Thunderjets landed at Travis Air Force base near San Francisco, Hawaii, Midway, Wake, Eniwetok, Guam and Iwo Jima enroute. The 2,400-mile stretch between Travis and Hawaii set a new over-water jet flight record.

Schilling, greying and 34 years old, is one of the Air Force's most decorated aces. He destroyed 34 German planes in World War II and led the first Air Force demonstration flight of 16 jets over the Atlantic in 1948.

In 1950, Schilling flew the first nonstop jet fighter plane across the Atlantic.

Husband Shot Dead At Port Huron Home; Wife Claims Beating

PORT HURON, Mich.—(AP)—Mrs. Catherine C. Head, 26, was held today in the fatal shooting yesterday of her 37-year old husband, Hazel.

Police said Head was shot in front of his home following a family argument.

Mrs. Head had appeared at the prosecutor's office yesterday morning to complain that her husband had beaten her.

The prosecutor issued a subpoena for Head requiring him to come in for questioning.

Deputies served the subpoena on Head at work. Police said he apparently went to his home. However as he started up the front walk, his wife appeared on the porch brandishing a '16 gauge shotgun.

Police said the woman ordered Head not to enter the house. Witnesses told police Head then turned back to his car but his wife fired anyway. Head died instantly.

Slashing Blaze Takes Lives Of 2 Loggers

CONCRETE, Wash.—(AP)—Two loggers were burned to death and two others narrowly escaped when a slashing fire broke out of control early today and jumped into high timber.

One victim tentatively was identified as Purl Cook, about 60. The other was reported to be his son, name unavailable.

How the men were trapped was not available either in this little town 85 miles northeast of Seattle.

Loggers were burning slashing (unwanted branches and other cuttings) from a timber lot when wind whipped the flames into nearby timber. More than 950 acres were burned over and the fire remained out of control.

State Forester Bernard Orell said 200 men would be rushed to the fire but they would be handicapped by extremely rugged terrain.

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP)—Slightly higher prices for railroads today kept the Stock Market on a steady course.

Changes in prices ranged from fractions lower to around a point higher with the upside having only a small edge.

Trading was at a fairly quiet pace, well under yesterday's expanded 1,220,000 shares.

The new hitch in negotiations to end the steel strike didn't shock the market, but it was quite evidently a keen disappointment.

Steel shares sagged idly. Motors were narrowly mixed. There was little feature in the rest of the market.

Higher were Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Texas C., J. I. Case, Allied Chemical, and Radio Corp. Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Amerasia Petroleum, Phelps Dodge, and Standard Oil (N.J.).

The market yesterday made a brisk advance with steel and motors in demand at a time when prospects for settlement of the steel strike appeared brighter.

One feature today was the movement of a block of 10,000 shares of General Public Service unchanged at 4.

Moro Bandits Handed Surrender Ultimatum

MANILA.—(AP)—Daring Moro bandits and Philippine police skirmished today in the hills of Jolo island while the government awaited the bandit leader's answer to a surrender ultimatum.

Moro Kamilon, notorious Filipino Mohammedan bandit, has four days to give himself up. After that, the army said, it will launch an all-out attack with tanks and manhunting dogs against his followers.

The outlaws have given no sign they will lay down their arms.

The Philippine News Service said four outlaws, two soldiers and one policeman were killed in clashes on Jolo. The island is in the southern Philippines.

Get Around Jamming

Additional facilities and electronic devices are to be put into use shortly to help overcome Russia's continuing effort to jam the Voice.

Dr. Compton said about 1,000 or more Russian jamming stations are trying to drown out the Voice. He said the State Department figured its "range of penetration" at between 20 and 70 per cent.

Around Moscow and Leningrad interference is worst.

Dr. Compton told a reporter the United States is ready to call off its suspension of America and its order concerning Russia's information bulletin if Moscow will live up to a 1944 circulation agreement.

Plant At Greenville Gets $4,803,926 Order For Shell Casings

GREENVILLE—(AP)—Greenville's status as a miniature arsenal of defense was strengthened today with announcement of a $4,803,926 government contract to Gibson Refrigerator Co. for 90 MM shell casings.

A. M. Gibson, vice president in charge of the firm's defense production, said work would start immediately on a new plant for producing the shells. When finished the plant will employ 350 workers, he said.

Gibson already is making combustion chambers for jet engines; flooring, doors and other parts for the Airforce C119 transport plane; parts for the C123 cargo plane; parts for the F-7-U Chance-Vought Navy fighter; ailerons for the Navy's Corsair; parts of undercarriages for Army heavy weapons; and 75MM shell casings.

The new contract is the largest so far, however, Gibson said.

All of the firm's civilian production of refrigerators, ranges and freezers is now centered at nearby Belding.

Cow Dunked In Well

ASHTABULA, O.—(AP)—A Jersey cow fell backwards into a 34-foot well full filled with water at nearby Austinburg yesterday. Firemen filled the well with water and floated the cow to the top.

She was lifted to the ground. Six hours later and none the worse for her wetting, the cow gave her regular two gallons of milk.

Michigan Democrat Delegates Bossed By CIO; 3 Fights

rule if it is imposed by their state convention, but he said he would present the delegate's wish to the convention chairman and urge the unit rule be lifted as to Michigan.

Not Enough Seats

August Scholle, state CIO chairman, former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and Robert P. Scott, former secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor, voted to overturn the unit rule.

Scott, who said he had resigned from the Federation, returned to the delegation today. Previously he had resigned as a delegate.

The Michigan delegation thus had at least three fights lined up for itself in Chicago next week.

First is the fight to get out of the unit rule.

The second is over the fact that it has elected 135 delegates and alternates to occupy 88 seats and cast 40 votes. The delegation is a maze of half votes, quarter votes and one-third votes.

Staeble said the national committee has ruled the state can have no more seats but that the decision will be appealed to the credentials committee.

The third fight was a delegation decision to battle for a strong civil rights plank in the national platform—"at least as strong as in 1948."

This is a reference to President Truman's controversial civil rights plank which many Democratic leaders this year hope to compromise.

At Moody's request, the delegates also called for a plank on revision of the senate rule permitting filibusters, the stumbling block to much civil rights legislation.

Alfred Meyers, chairman of the 17th congressional district, warned the delegation that he would challenge any attempt at Chicago to upset the unit rule for Michigan.

If the national credentials committee refuses to seat all 135 delegates and alternates, each congressional district will decide for itself who will be seated, but the entire group will caucus and decide how the delegation is to vote.

Some districts sent four delegates and four alternates while others sent two of each.

Williams was chosen delegation chairman, Staeble vice-chairman, Adelaide Hart of Detroit secretary and O. K. Grottenberger of Okemos, treasurer.

Floyd Stevens of Grand Rapids was elected to the convention committee on permanent order of business, Alfonso Magnotta of Albion to the rules committee, Rep. Ed Carey of Detroit to the credentials committee and Moody and Miss Hart to the platform committee.

Outdoor Life Not What It Used to Be Since the Advent of the Luxury Trailer

Living in the great outdoors is definitely not what it used to be. Today, luxury trailers make life under the blue a perfect home away from home (right). Besides specially designed furniture, some trailers feature forced-air innerwall ventilation, a fully equipped bath and indirect lighting (top right). The kitchen has an expanding table which opens out into living room. Rounded corners prevent bumps and bruises (bottom right).

By ANNETTE GREEN
NEA Staff Writer

Ah, to commune with nature, to live out under the stars in tent or tree. If this is your idea of the better things of life, you'll be startled to learn there are 7,000,000 other Americans who don't agree.

They are all for the outdoors and the stars, understand, but they prefer the luxury of the trailer. What can it be that makes so many people resist the delights of grass, insects and sleeping bag or the more prosaic surroundings of a 30-foot-long, eight-foot-wide steel coach?

Well, in case none of your friends lives on wheels, this is the way the inside of a trailer looks to company. Glass bricks and sliding partitions separate rooms. The furniture is streamlined and modern, and offers an absolute maximum of comfort.

Should you be invited for dinner, your hostess will serve out of a family-sized refrigerator, equipped with a deep-freeze compartment, and on a dining table which will seat about six people. You won't have to worry about a sharp turn throwing you against a pointed table corner, either. Everything is rounded.

Tables fold away into walls, cupboards allow storage space under the bed, and a mirrored cabinet often hides an ironing board.

Some trailers sleep as many as seven or eight people, and the bedroom (or rooms) is most glamorous. Indirect lighting and forced-air innerwall ventilation are added pleasures. Definitely all the comforts—and then some—of home.

And there are many special features to be had, should a family need them. A coach may have a built-in nursery, or it can be outfitted with a desk and filing space for the traveling executive.

To continue with the more substantial things of life, many of the trailers have showers, while others boast of showers and baths. As if trailer living was not comfortable enough, trailer parks have sprung up all over the country complete with connections for water, electricity and drainage facilities. And that's not all. The newer parks feature paved roadways, landscaping, swimming pools and community houses for social events.

The people who settle in these parks usually build a connecting patio to their trailer which they set off with awnings and equip with lawn chairs and tables. As the old saying goes, "It's not where you live, but how."

Manufacturers of trailers, as a further incentive to prospective buyers, have decked out many coaches as diners and theaters. What a lovely way to spend an evening.

If you are considering the pros and cons of such living—there certainly doesn't seem much left to be desired. That is, of course, except for the price of the trailer. These standard, ready-to-buy models range in price from about $3,000 to $6,000.

What was that you just muttered about the rising cost of living? Oh, well, it doesn't matter. Didn't you say you preferred camping anyway?

Bell Telephones Up To 2,000,000

LANSING, Mich. — (AP)—John A. Greene, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., hailed the installation of the company's 2,000,000th telephone today as "a symbol of the strength and growth of America."

The Clifford Pond farm in rural Holt near here was the scene of the installation.

In a speech prepared for a ceremony marking the event at the farm, Greene declared, "it's no accident that this great country of ours—with six percent of the world's population—has over half the world's telephones. It has come about here because the telephone industry has been free to develop under private ownership—has been free to develop better ways of doing things—has been free to grow until today this country's communications system is one of its greatest assets."

"I think it's particularly fitting," he said, "that this two-millionth telephone is being installed on a farm, because it has been, and will continue to be our aim to keep on extending and improving rural telephone service to the end that everyone in our territory can get the best possible service at the lowest possible cost."

Greene pointed out that it had taken Michigan Bell 65 years to reach the first million telephone mark but that the second million had been installed during the past 10 years.

Michigan's first telephone was installed in 1877 in the old Frederick Stearns drug store in Detroit. The new gadget quickly caught on. By the turn of the century the telephone was firmly established in American life.

Burma Urges Showing Of Home-Grown Films

RANGOON, Burma — (AP)—Movie houses which exhibit foreign films exclusively may have to devote at least one week in each month to the showing of Burmese films, according to a government ruling.

The Burmese government is expected to introduce legislation in Parliament shortly making it compulsory to show Burmese films. The order is designed to bolster the local film industry.

Last year, exhibitors reported only 55 Burmese movies were made, 50 of which were silent productions. Against this, 699 American, 66 British, 138 Indian, 38 Russian and Chinese films were imported into the country.

The polar regions have relatively dry air.

Ike Will Hide Out To Fish For Trout

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower looked forward eagerly today to a vacation of trout fishing and perhaps some golf before turning full attention to "a long, hard campaign" as the Republican presidential nominee.

The General and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here last night after a four-hour flight from Chicago—where he won the GOP nomination last Friday—and got a big ovation from several thousand persons on hand to welcome them.

Hard Work Ahead

Eisenhower gave the cheering crowd a broad smile, waved his hat, then stepped to a microphone and said:

"When we left here a week ago Thursday I made a prophesy: that good, common honest Americans would be in charge of the Republican convention—and they were."

"There's a long, hard campaign ahead of us. Every one of us has got to work and scrap. I can't think of a better place (than Denver) for a long breath for what is ahead of us."

"We're glad to be back."

Then he got into an open car and rode seven miles to the Brown Palace hotel with Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver and Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado.

Thornton played a leading role at the Chicago convention in charting strategy which won the nomination for Eisenhower over Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Seeks "Chief of Staff"

Eisenhower set up a headquarters here shortly after he returned from Europe June 1. He left Denver aboard a special train July 3 for Chicago, making a whistle stop campaign along the way.

After a brief stay last night at his eighth floor suite in the Brown Palace, the General and his wife spent the night at the home of her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, who returned from Chicago with the triumphant party. Among those who made the trip to Denver was Dr. Howard Snyder, who served as Eisenhower's physician when the General was European defense commander. James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, told reporters Snyder was accompanying the General as a friend and not in a professional capacity.

Just before boarding his plane in Chicago, Eisenhower said he had had a very busy week and that his time had been "very crowded" since he came home from Europe six weeks ago.

"I hope to hide away (after getting to Denver) and catch some trout," Eisenhower said, grinning.

Aides to the General believe he soon may name what one Eisenhower leader called "a sort of chief of staff" for campaign operations.

Walter Williams of Seattle, chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee, described the job that way after conferring with Eisenhower yesterday.

Williams said the General talked about creating such a post, and that he had made it plain the job would be different from that of campaign manager—an assignment now open.

Few Social Workers

MONTREAL — (AP)—Current shortage of trained social workers may become even more acute in the near future because enrollments in Canadian schools of social work are dropping.

Dr. J. J. O'Moore of the McGill School of Social Work said fewer than half of the first-year students at the McGill class would finish their two-year course because of lack of financial support for such students.

The 72-year-old horse dealer always walked with the horses he bought and sold in Northern and Central Italy for a half century. He has covered more than 7,456 miles each year on foot.

What is his hobby?

Taking long walks.

ARTHRITIS SET IN WHEN I BROKE MY HIP

"I suffered terribly with arthritis in my legs and back and couldn't walk until I discovered O-JIB-WA BITTERS" says Mrs. Laura Donovan, 343 Elm St., Birmingham, Michigan.

"I fell and fractured my hip over a year ago, and was in the hospital for 11 weeks in a cast."

When I got out, I suffered from arthritis in my legs and back and couldn't walk. I tried many medicines and even tried mineral baths for three weeks, but still needed a cane to get around.

Mrs. Donovan I was forced to crawl on my hands and knees to get upstairs. After getting out of bed in the morning, I had to stand for awhile and steady myself before taking the first painful steps. Besides having rheumatism and arthritis, I had very little pep and was so nervous it felt like I had butterflies in my stomach. I do not give up easily, so was determined to try anything that might help. O-JIB-WA BITTERS was highly recommended to me, and as I had already spent so much time and money with little relief, I decided to give O-JIB-WA BITTERS a fair trial. I was elated, as in just 10 days I could see a remarkable improvement. The pains and crippling stiffness gradually left my legs and back. After using your fine medicine for a couple of months, I have discarded the cane; can take walks again; do my own housework; am no longer nervous and fully enjoy life once more. I want to praise O-JIB-WA BITTERS for making it possible for me to do all the things again that a healthy person takes for granted. As O-JIB-WA BITTERS has done so much for me, I very highly recommend that all men and women suffering with rheumatism and arthritis give it a fair trial. Take my word, you won't be disappointed in O-JIB-WA BITTERS."

Comedian Hope Wins Award For GI Laughs

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope has been awarded the Veterans of Foreign Wars' first Al Jolson award and citation for the laughs he's given service men and hospitalized veterans.

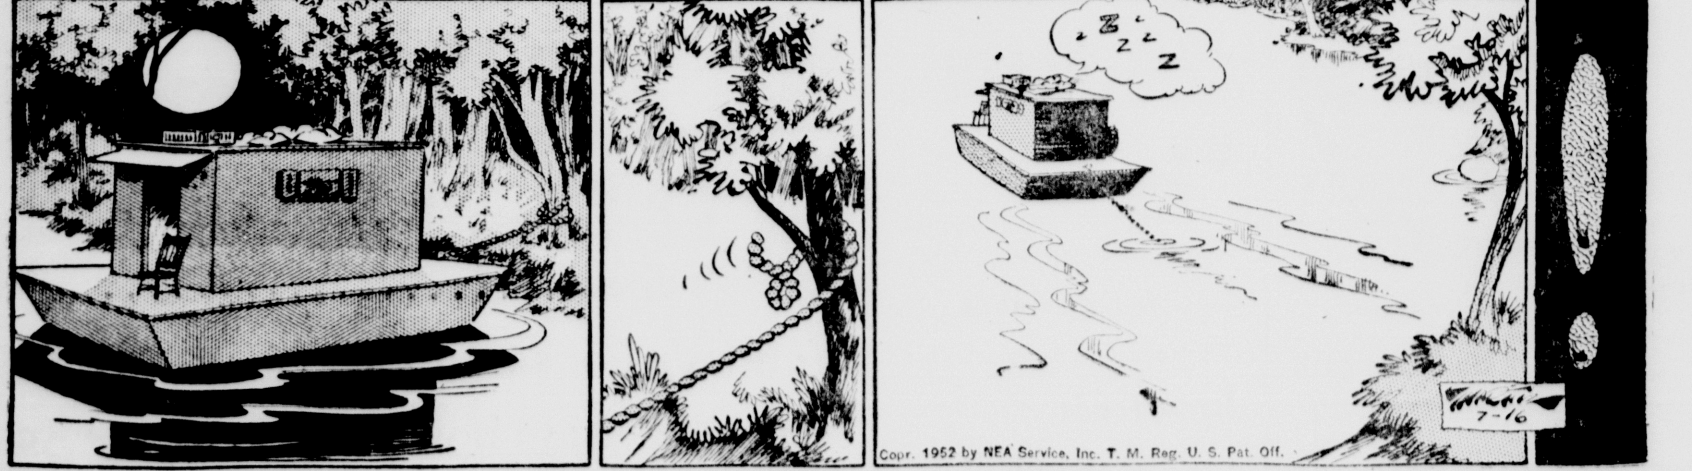

VFW Commander Frank C. Hilton announced the award will be presented to Hope August 4 at the distinguished guests banquet, highlight of the 53rd annual VFW national encampment in Los Angeles.

The Jolson award will be presented annually to the person in the entertainment world who, in the opinion of the VFW, has done most during the preceding 12 months to entertain men of the armed services.

Hilton, in announcing that Hope had won the first Jolson award, also paid tribute to other "artists of stage, screen and radio for their splendid efforts to entertain veterans in hospitals and members of the armed services at home and abroad."

War Prisoners of Past Never Had It Like This

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Caesar, Hannibal, and even the generals of the American Civil War would be astounded could they know of the agreements made by modern civilized nations to protect prisoners of war, for until the end of the last century little but the whim of the victor governed the fate of the captured enemy.

Wars of extermination in which no prisoners were taken occurred in ancient and medieval times, says the National Geographic Society. The Romans usually made slaves of defeated soldiers. As late as 1780, some governments held their prisoners for ransom.

The French humanitarians Montesquieu and Rousseau are given credit for advancing the thesis that soldiers who lay down their arms are entitled to life and humane treatment. The civilized nations of the world drew up a prisoner code at The Hague in 1899 and despite frequent lapses, have honored it in general ever since.

Hague Convention Modernized
The Hague Convention has been reviewed and amended periodically. One such revision produced in 1929 the so-called Geneva Convention, growing out of the fact that the Central Powers took advantage of loopholes in the old instrument during World War I.

Russia never signed the 1929 Convention. The result has been a wrangle between the Soviet Union and the Western Nations concerning the fate of thousands of Germans and Japanese soldiers who disappeared into Russia during World War II.

But the Soviet Union, with sixty other nations, is a signatory to the current Geneva Convention, drawn up in 1949 to correct abuses discovered between 1940 and 1945. The United Nations forces, at least, scrupulously adhere to the Convention in Korea.

One reason Koj's murderous mutineers were treated more mildly than many thought they should have been was the code's ban on mass reprisals. The Convention also says prisoners must be given decent housing, nourishing food and the right to communicate with their families.

Freedom Of Worship Guaranteed
They may not be punished for trying to escape or refusing to answer questions of a military nature. They are guaranteed medical care, freedom of worship, exercise, and the opportunity to participate in sports and intellectual pastimes. Enlisted captives can be worked but must be paid for their labors. Such labor may not further their enemy's war effort. It is forbidden to insult or humiliate them, or

Blight Damages Bermuda Cedars

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ocean racing yachtsmen and other visitors to Bermuda this summer are finding the face of this subtropical island paradise changed in hue because a visitor brought not tourist dollars, but death to the Bermuda cedars.

Where, prior to World War II, flowers of hibiscus and bougainvillea flamed against a background of cool, glossy, dark green, now much of the backdrop is the sere brown of dead trees. The cause of the blight, says the National Geographical Society, is juniper scale from the United States which slipped through plant quarantines. Famed as the Bermuda "cedars," the trees are in reality junipers.

Reforestation Planned
Happily, the British government of Bermuda foresees eventual removal of almost a million dead and dying cedars and complete reforestation. The task will take years to complete. Meanwhile, both to keep Bermuda green and to hold down its light topsoil, fast-growing pines, palms and other trees are being set out.

Replanting means a number of operations. First, the scale must be eliminated, a job now reported being successfully carried out with the aid of a small beetle, a scale parasite. Next, stricken cedars must be removed. This job is being undertaken by companies which will use the wood, still of good commercial quality even though from dead trees.

Finally, the new cedars will be planted. A few healthy trees survived to furnish seed, which was planted in Jamaica and elsewhere. This seed is expected to provide the slow-growing baby cedars for a scale-free Bermuda in two or three years.

For more than three centuries, Bermuda cedar has played a large

Health-Giving Water From English Spring Not Fit For Drinking

BAWBURG, Eng.—(AP)—For a thousand years Britons have been drinking the waters from St. Walstan's well, outside the Bawburg church, believing it effects miraculous cures.

And now a 20th century analyst reports the water is so impure it's not fit to drink.

The church vicar, Herbert L. Davies, gets scores of requests for bottles of the water to be mailed to invalids. He says he's in a "difficult position—I don't want to destroy peoples' faith."

Dr. Irene M. Green, the local health officer, told the town council part in the lives of the islanders. Until they learned to build their houses from the Aeolian limestone just beneath their soil, they built with the fragrant cedar.

In cedar ships, they attacked Spanish galleons making their easting in Bermuda latitudes. They have long made cedar ornaments and furniture. The custom of celebrating births, weddings, and other events by planting commemorative cedars has been practiced for years.

Like islanders everywhere, Bermudians are fond of the things they have always known. They are willing to wait several decades for maturity of their new cedars, instead of following the easy path of planting fast-growing permanent substitutes.

oil the people would just have to strike a balance between spiritual and physical benefits. But if the well is too popular, she added, she might have to put up a warning notice, "unfit for drinking."

Legend has it that St. Walstan was the son of a 10th century English nobleman who spurned his father's riches, lived in poverty and worked miracles. The legend says that when he died, his funeral cart stopped at Bawburg and the spring—the present well—appeared at the spot.

AS WE LIVE

He Wants To Be Alone; Let Him Give It A Try

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

Old people sometimes get peculiar ideas. One of the most common is that they are tired of their families and want a change. Once they get this change, however, they realize it's not what they want after all. The wife who wrote this letter would do well to grant her husband his wish:

(Q) "What is wrong with a man of 65 who no longer cares for his wife of 45 and wants to sell the home, divide the money, and each go his own way? He has no other woman and I am not interested in other men. So it seems foolish to break up after a long marriage. There is no affection between us any more. I am lonely living with him and wonder if I would be worse off living alone. We have drifted apart since I had an operation several years ago. What do you advise?"

(A) Grant your husband's wish and give him a chance to live his own life. Let him see how dependent he is on you without realizing it and how lonely he will be alone.

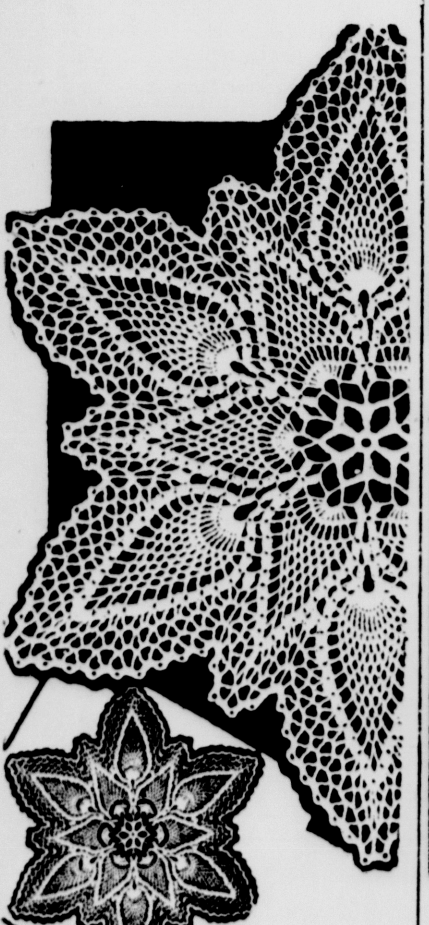

Don't under any circumstances, give him a divorce or legal separation. He has no grounds for either and there is no point in breaking up your marriage without reason.

Don't divide the property in such a way that you will come out with little. See that you have ample to live on comfortably, even if your husband comes out short. You, as a woman, can live cheaper than a man because you won't have to rely upon restaurants for meals as men do when they are alone.

Let your husband know this is a "trial separation" and that you have no hard feelings about it. If he wants you to come back to him, the door is open—provided he shows he has a real love for you.

And, above all, don't take him back when he tells how lonely he is. I prophesy it may take six months to a year before he realizes that freedom is not what he wanted after all. Let him learn a good lesson before you go back to him. Let him have a real taste of what freedom means at his age so you won't have a repetition of this a year or two later.

If you have a problem about family of friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Slim Lines Are Foremost Feature Of Suits For Fall

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — When you pay your money across the line for a suit this Fall, you'll find you're not confined to one silhouette.

There's a wide choice: you can pick the very short, hip-length jacket (often belted), the middie look as demonstrated by the oval box or long torso line, or the suit with natural waist and rounded hipline but without padding.

These should offer choice enough to please anyone. The look of most daytime suits is slim, but this doesn't mean pencil-tight skirts. Center pleats, panel-effect backs, concealed pleats or high slits give some freedom of motion.

Shoulder Line Natural
Where skirt fullness does show up, it's soft and gentle fullness, slim at the hipline and molded to the body, with no hint of stiffness.

The padding predicted for the shoulder line has not materialized. Even shoulders with set-in sleeves remain natural. If there's padding, it's very soft and light.

"Black will be good for Fall." We hear this every year, said with varying degrees of breathlessness. It's no news to anyone that women will wear black again this Fall and Winter.

Red in Varied Shades
Red, a blurred, blackened red and red in varying shades and degrees, will trail black as a high fashion color. Brown will be seen both alone and in company with black, a smart, if Victorian, team. Blue and gray follow in importance.

Poodle wools are with us for suits this year, as are many bulky coatings that can be worn into the Winter. Many of these are long-haired, some are sleek sibilines, both fancy and plain. Tweeds, worsteds and tweedy angora blends are used; so are the textured, loopy fabrics and textured rabbit's hair-and-wool.

Today's Recipes

Ham-Carrot Salad

Ingredients: 2 cups medium-fine diced ham, 1 cup shredded carrot (use medium grater), 3-4 cup commercially prepared sour cream, 1/4 cup bottled tartar sauce, 1 tablespoon minced chives, salt and freshly-ground pepper, iceberg lettuce.

Method: Mix together ham, carrots, sour cream, tartar sauce, and chives. Add salt and pepper to taste; refrigerate. Cut core out of lettuce and allow cold water to run in cavity to separate leaves; dry leaves in tea towel; wrap in towel and chill. At serving time line bowl with some of the lettuce leaves and mound salad in center. Makes 6 servings.

Lemon Blueberry Fluff

Ingredients: 2 cups fresh cultivated blueberries, 1/4 cup sugar, one 3-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin, 1 3-4 cups very hot water, 2 tablespoons strained lemon juice, 1/2 cup heavy cream.

Method: Mix blueberries and sugar and allow to stand at room temperature. Meanwhile dissolve gelatin in hot water; stir in lemon

Melt butter or fortified margarine in saucepan (or top part of double boiler). Remove from heat. Add flour and seasonings. Stir until smooth. Gradually stir in milk. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Add cheese. Just before serving, stir in egg.

Serve on crisp crackers or toast triangles garnished with a sprinkle of paprika. If you like foods a little on the "hot" side, garnish top with a very light sprinkle of cayenne.

Economic Recession Due In '53, Says CIO

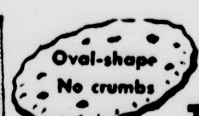

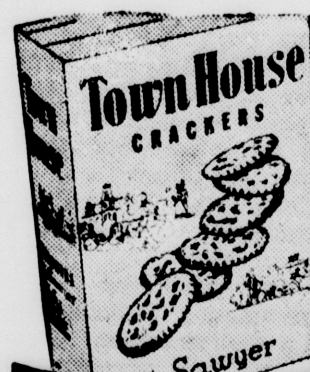

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The CIO believes an economic recession is likely in 1953 and 1954 unless something is done to head it off.

Among other things, it recommended in the current issue of Economic Outlook that business lower its profits to help stimulate sales. The article said if consumer spending does not rise enough to make up for the leveling off of defense spending and the drop in building of new plants and equipment, production and employment will fall off.

"There is no widespread backlog of pent-up consumer demand now as there was after World War II," the CIO said. "Consumers do not have any substantial liquid savings as they did on V-J day."

Creek visited his aunt, Mrs. Signe Bonifas this week.

William Beecher of Detroit and Miss Viola Maki of Munising were weekend guests of Miss Maki's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morrison.

245 More Families TO GET Telephone SERVICE

TELEPHONE SERVICE is coming July 30 to 110 families in and around Cornell and to 135 rural homes near Escanaba.

This will widen the local calling areas for all Escanaba and Gladstone customers and make their telephone service more valuable and useful.

A "double header," this is the latest of several telephone expansion projects carried out by Michigan Bell.

Foresight and advance planning have made it possible to serve two different areas with a single improvement program.

1. The Cornell area will be served by a community dial telephone office. This system is linked to Escanaba—and thus to the entire U.S. telephone network—by a newly-installed telephone cable to carry customers' long distance conversations.

2. At the same time telephone service will be brought to many rural families in the Escanaba exchange. They will be served by new lines fanning out from this Cornell-Escanaba cable at various points.

Central office switching equipment—housed in leased space in the Cornell township school district building—cost $13,400. Other intricate equipment and lines, necessary to amplify and transmit telephone conversations to neighbors and nearby communities, cost $93,400.

Money for expansion and improvement like this has to come from people willing to invest their savings in the telephone business.

To attract their money, the telephone business must pay a fair return for the use of their money. So...

It's good for you and your town to have Michigan Bell make a fair profit.

Garbage Truck Bids Authorized

Advertising for bids on a new or demonstration model Packmaster garbage truck of 12 yards capacity was authorized by the Manistique City Council at a regular meeting Monday night.

The present garbage truck, in service here since 1944, has a capacity of only seven yards. The larger truck, councilmen pointed out, will serve municipal needs more economically and will prevent wind scattering of rubbish during collection.

Group hospital and medical insurance for city employees was again discussed at the session but no action was taken on city participation in premium costs. Councilmen indicated that employees should make a direct request to the council for such participation.

The resignation of Russell Watson from City Recreation Commission was accepted, with instructions that a letter be dispatched to him expressing appreciation for his many years of service. Appointment of a successor by Mayor Vern C. Linderoth was deferred until the next council session.

The council voted to engage Lawrence Scudder and Company, of Marquette, to audit city records.

William Hood, city attorney, presented a report on a recent public hearing on local telephone rates conducted by the Michigan Public Service Commission here. The June milk report submitted by the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department was studied and placed on file.

A policy on retirement of city employees under social security was briefly discussed but action was deferred until a later meeting.

Council members directed that a letter be sent to the Manistique American Legion post commending it on the success of the Fourth of July celebration.

Ground Observation Corps To Be Formed At Meeting Tonight

Organization of a ground observer corps in Manistique is expected to be completed at a meeting at 8 tonight in the firemen's clubrooms, City Hall building, it is announced by H. W. Heideman, county civil defense director.

Arrangements for the session were completed yesterday by T. H. Reque who has been named chief ground observer for the city of Manistique.

Cooperating with Reque in organizing an airplane spotting crew here is the American Legion Auxiliary which at a meeting Monday night appointed Mrs. Leonard Walters chairman and Mrs. Fred H. Hahne and Mrs.

George Huber co-chairmen to assist with the program.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary, the VFW Auxiliary, and all others interested in the local air defense program are invited to attend the session tonight.

Two reels of motion pictures on air spotting will be shown at the meeting.

Activation of various ground observation organizations in this area by mid-July has been urged by national defense authorities who feel that a "sneak attack" from Soviet Russia would necessarily pass over the Upper Peninsula on its way to mid-western industrial centers. The need for advance information from air spotters to permit fighter plane interception is emphasized by defense officials.

It is proposed to use the Chamber of Commerce building at Triangle Park as a spotter station, at least temporarily.

The information building was used as a spotter station during World War II but, according to Leonard J. Harbick, who was then chief of the ground observation corps, the site was not entirely satisfactory.

A new observation post was built at the fairgrounds but the war ended before it was put in use.

"The fairgrounds building is the ideal site for airplane detection," Harbick said, "and it should be reconditioned for use in the current emergency."

"It is located on high ground, has a cat-walk built around its top for clear observation over long distances, and is free from confusing sounds existing at Triangle Park. During World War II we constructed two large horns to pick up the sound of airplane motors but even these failed to shut out the growl of truck and automobile engines. Besides that, spotters, working two hour shifts on a 24-hour basis, were subject to some ridicule by unthinking individuals in the down town area who thought plane spotting was silly."

He requested that signs now on the property be removed and that a growth of tag alders obscuring a view of Lake Michigan be eliminated.

The lake shore area is located between U.S. 2 and Lake Michigan opposite U.S. 2 and Garden Avenue intersection.

The council instructed the city manager and city attorney to investigate the matter.

In This Corner

With Roy Crandall

There is a "natural" lurking on the local sports scene. What could be more logical than a third meeting between the Bark River and Escanaba baseball teams of the Tri County League? Bark River edged the Bears 2-1 in a first round game and the Bears returned the loss in the second game, by the same score. Manager Leo Knauf of the Barks isn't convinced, though. "That rain last Sunday didn't help matters a bit. We'd like nothing better than to take on the Bears on a nice, clear day and see what happens," he said. The game at Bark River Sunday was halted by rain in the top of the sixth inning.

There probably never have been two Bark River and Escanaba teams more evenly matched in player personnel. Both clubs are made up of young athletes with a sprinkling of veterans. Both boast several heavy sluggers, both are speedy on the bases and both have lack of depth in the pitching department. Joe Rademacher is handling all of Bark River's mound duties while Jack Chriske is Manager Jack Beck's No. 1 man.

Karl Dickson informs us that the Escanaba Jaycee Little League team will not compete in the Michigan tournament this Summer. In order to do so, the Escanaba entry would have to play at Midland one week and at Grand Rapids the next. It would entail too great an expense in travel. Dickson wired Williamsport, Pa., Little League national headquarters, with a request to change the tourney site if possible. A long distance telephone call came through yesterday informing Dickson that Escanaba could enter the Wisconsin tournament which will be held at Stevens Point. Wisconsin and Minnesota entries will compete there next month. Winner of that district tourney would go on to a sectional meet at Dolton, Ill., in which a Canadian representative will also take part.

Two Extra-Inning Softball Wins In American League

Two one-run, extra-inning games at Memorial Field last night provided the best softball action of the season.

It took Paper Mill eight innings to decision Power & Light by a 6-5 score.

And the Harnies battled for 10 innings before wrestling a 4-3 verdict from the No Names.

Avery Brundage Is Olympic President

HELSINKI — (AP) — Avery Brundage of Chicago was elected president of the International Olympic committee today.

Brundage succeeds J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Sweden who is retiring.

Brundage, who has been vice-president, and Lord David Bury of Great Britain had been the two men prominently mentioned as presidential candidates.

The U. S. doubles tennis championships will be held at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, Mass., Aug. 18-24.

No. 13 Unlucky For Tiger's Walt Dropo

WASHINGTON — (AP) — For big Walt Dropo, thirteen was the unlucky number last night when he came within one bat swing of setting a new major league consecutive hitting record. As it was, he tied the old record.

The Detroit first baseman, who hit safely five straight times against the New York Yankees two days ago, continued his streak with seven hits in a row off Washington pitching in yesterday's twin-night doubleheader with the Senators.

This put Dropo into a tie with the 14-year-old mark of 12 straight set by Boston Red Sox third baseman Pinky Higgins in 1938.

Pop Foul

But the thirteenth time up—before a tensely watching crowd—the streak came to an end. Dropo hit southpaw Lou Sleater's first pitch for a mild pop foul which catcher Mickey Grasso promptly gathered in.

As if to atone for this earlier miscue, big Walt delivered again the very next time up: He knocked a single off Sleater to drive in two more Detroit runs.

Even without setting a new major league record there was plenty for Dropo to cheer about:

He and Higgins are now the only two players to top the 11-straight mark set by the famed Tris Speaker of Cleveland in 1920.

He now has made 19 hits in 35 times at bat on Detroit's current road trip, even though the tailenders have won only one out of eight games. Since July 4 he has been hitting at a .523 clip, and has boosted his season average from .295 to .296.

Washington manager Bucky Harris last night said he thinks Dropo's current hit barrage is due to the use of a lighter bat. Instead of swinging for the fences, Harris explained, Dropo is now concentrating on meeting the ball.

Clips Triple

While the Detroit man-mountain hit no homers in Griffith Stadium yesterday he had his share of extra-base knocks. After driving four solid singles off Walter Masterson in the first two, Dropo slashed a liner off Bob Porterfield in the first inning of the second game that was good for three bases.

In the third inning, Dropo drove a grounder through shortstop for his eleventh straight hit. That also came off Porterfield.

Sleater had appeared on the mound for Washington in the fifth inning, when Dropo smashed a double that tied Higgins' record.

When Dropo came back to the plate two innings later to try for a new record, the crowd cheered tensely as the Detroit first sacker eyed Sleater. He swung at the first pitch and raised a foul to the right of the plate. Grasso made a routine catch to end the longest batting streak in 14 years.

Sleater said afterwards his pitch was "right down the middle."

Teams Set For Legion Junior Tourney Action

Escanaba will have full representation at the 11th district American Legion Junior baseball tournament at Menominee this week.

The Escanaba Cubs and Al's Bark River Legion team, the latter composed of Escanaba and Bark River boys, will be in action. But one of the teams won't be in action long. They are slated to face each other on opening day, Friday.

The six-team tournament, a double elimination affair, opens Friday morning and extends through Sunday afternoon. In a double elimination tournament a team must lose two games before it is out of contention.

Complete slate for opening day follows:

9 a. m.—Menominee vs. Powers 12:30—Bark River vs. Escanaba 4—Gladstone vs. Cornell

Quarter-finals will be played Saturday in both winners' and losers' brackets and semi-final action will be held Sunday morning. Championship game is at 1:30.

The 1952 district tournament is probably the best balanced, and is the largest, since its inauguration in 1948.

For the first time in three years the Escanaba Cubs, who have won the tournament each year since 1948, are not considered a challenging factor. The Cubs, built around the 1951 state Little League championship club, are managed again by Al Ness. His young charges, 12 and 13 years of age, are hustlers and play sound baseball, but they don't figure to stick with the older candidates.

If there is a pre-tournament favorite, other than the host Menominee team, it is Al's Legion. Most of the players are veterans and have seen considerable action in Legion circles this year.

Softball Features Are Slated Tonight

A pair of feature softball games are slated for Memorial Field this evening following the Pony League clash at 5:30.

In the softball opener, Harnischfeger takes on the Dells at 7:15. In the nightcap at 8:45, first-place White Birch meets Paper Mill, second in the standings. A Paper Mill win would put that club in the top spot.

Wall And Colby Post Golf Wins

DETROIT — (AP) — Outstayers

squared off confidently for the second round of the Women's Michigan Amateur Golf championship today after coming through opening play in fine fashion.

There wasn't a real upset yesterday although a five-time champion from Detroit was ousted.

Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, former champion and one of the top-notchers, got the biggest score. The 1947 and 1948 champion needed a back nine rally to defeat Mrs. E. A. Provo of Detroit, 3 and 1.

At one time Miss Wall was two-down but she birdied the eighth and ninth to get even. She also lost the 10th after hitting into the creek but then settled down to par golf.

Only one match yesterday went to the 18th hole. Susanne Kessler of Ann Arbor won both the 17th and 18th for a two up triumph over Mrs. Floyd Schoonover of Detroit.

Medalist Mrs. Don Weiss of Flint, a four-time champion, went two over par in beating Mrs. R. G. Martell of Detroit, 6 and 4.

Another outstate contender, Vonnice Colby of Sault Ste. Marie, was only one over par in trouncing Janet Appelhof of Grand Blanc, 5 and 4.

Grand Rapids Park Grandstand Burns

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — Fire believed to have started in one of the dressing rooms destroyed the Bigelow Athletic Field grandstand early today with a loss estimated up to $50,000.

The fire department saved bleachers and fences and other buildings. The field was built in 1936 and is owned by J. T. Williams, Chicago. It formerly was the home field of the Grand Rapids Jets of the Central League, and currently is used by the Grand Rapids Chicks of the American Girls League.

Easter Celebrates Return To Indians With Homerun

NEW YORK — (AP) — Luke Easter, large Luke teed off on one of Joe Ostrowski's serves and sent a tremendously high fly that dropped into the right field seats for a home run, his 12th of the campaign.

Off Southpaw

What made it most satisfactory to Easter's way of thinking was the fact that it came off a left-hander, the species of pitcher who had been making him look inept at the plate.

Easter's homer was as welcome to Manager Al Lopez as the Indians' 7-3 victory that cut the Yankees first place lead over Cleveland to two-and-a-half games.

It was only a couple of hours before that Easter was sitting in the dugout discussing his surprising banishment to Indianapolis two weeks ago and his equally sudden recall by the Indians yesterday.

Bad Knee

"I don't blame Lopez for sending me out," Easter was saying. "I wasn't helping the club any. I was supposed to be the big guy, the fellow who was going to hit the long ball for them and I couldn't even get a loud foul. Pitchers I murdered last year were having a picnic with me."

Easter scratched his head.

"I don't want this to appear like an alibi," he continued, "Because I've been just plain horse-meat this year. But that left knee of mine has been bothering me all season and in addition I hurt my right leg and the pain just never left it."

"The club depended on me so much and I was letting them down."

Luke's worrying has cost him 25 pounds and shrunk his massive 6-4½ frame to a mere 215 pounds.

Brews Edge Up On Kansas City Club

(By The Associated Press)

The St. Paul Saints won one the hard way in the American Association last night, blowing a five-run lead in the ninth but finally edging Indianapolis, 7-6, in the 13th inning.

League-leading Kansas City scored all its runs in the seventh and eighth frames for a 5-3 win at Charleston where the Senators ended a 23-game home stand before 5,996. In 17 home dates, the Senators, formerly the Toledo Mud Hens, played before 79,949, an average of about 4,700 per outing.

Milwaukee shaved Kansas City's lead to three games with a double win at Columbus, 4-2 and 3-2.

Minneapolis swept a pair at Louisville, 2-0 and 3-2. Jake Schmitt's four-hitter won the opener, while Daryl Spencer's 10th inning double drove across the winning tally in the nightcap.

QUESTION: Who was manager of the Browns when they won their first and only pennant in 1944?

ANSWER: Luke Sewell.

Q. Why is a left-handed first baseman preferred over a right-handed one?

A. Everything else being equal, the southpaw has an edge because, after fielding the ball, he is in a better position to throw to the other bases.

Q. What is Jim Konstanty's real first name?

A. The Phillies' fire fighter's first name is Casimir, but he prefers to be called Jim.

Q. How did Dazzy Vance, the great Brooklyn fireballer of some years back, acquire his nickname?

A. When Vance was a youngster, an old hunter in his home town in Nebraska referred to his rifle as a "dazzy." Vance became known as Dazzy by repeatedly using the expression.

The league-leading Elks Club meets the AFL Unions in the Pony League game of the week tonight at Memorial Field at 5:30. The Elks are in first place with a 4-1 record with the Unions entry just a half game behind with a 3-1 mark.

Elmer Besson or Robert Hansen will be on the mound for the Elks with Puggy Doucette behind the plate. Tom Hogan will hold down first base, Oliver Swanson will be on second, Billy Bolm at shortstop and Robert Olson at third. The outfield will be patrolled by Richard Howe, Mario Chigi and Wally Nye. In reserve, Manager Norm Hansen will have Wayne LaFave, Roger Swanson, Harold Wallin, Harry Menard and Dennis Sjdin.

Manager Art Peterson of the Unions is expected to start Don Trotter or John LaBranch on the hill with Ray Warner catching. His infield will be made up of Mickey Rooney at first, Jack Carlson at second, Dan Rousseau at shortstop and Duane Marenger at third.

If Jack Carlson goes in to do relief pitching, Wally Severinsen will take over second base. Three of the following will be chosen to play in the outfield: Jim McDonald, Harold Ness, Bob Orzel, Philip Sarasin, Rodney Hulbert, Phil Munger and Jim Trotter.

In yesterday's lone league game Kiwanis climbed out of a knot for last place by trimming Insurance Association 14-5. The Insurance team fell to the cellar spot.

Don Anderson went the distance for Kiwanis. He allowed eight hits and fanned a dozen batters. Kiwanis combed four Insurance pitchers for 12 hits. John Dulik had three for three including a triple and Mike Goymerac, hatcher, poled a pair of doubles and a single.

Houston Man Would Like To See Stars So 'Revolving Stage' Golf Is Proposed

By SID VAN ULM

NEA Special Correspondent HOUSTON, Tex.—(NEA)—Ford Hubbard is a dub golfer when he's not engaged in his oil business.

Ford also is a golf fan.

When he gets on the course, especially where a big-time event is going on, he likes to see the players in action, but like thousands of others, he just can't see enough going on.

I saw Hubbard at the United States Open Championship at Dallas' Northwood Club. We were two of the several thousand present who just got a glimpse of the players' heads from the tees. On the greens only the first to settle down were able to see the stars work with their putters.

In 1946, Hubbard had an idea that might seem like a crackpot notion to some, but to others his idea has merit. He was watching an exhibition match at Houston's River Oaks, where he is a member. After plodding along pushing his fellow members, trying to get a choice spot to watch the action, he thought how nice it would be if he could sit in one place and see everything that was going on.

Centered At Point

"Boy," said Hubbard, "a central seating point would solve all this."

He had Ewell Mills, an engineer, draw up a rough set of plans, with the tees and greens all centering at a point where a suitable seating arrangement could be set up.

Since that day, Hubbard has been plugging away at his idea, has it patented. His sports theater for golf is called Golf View with the main idea a central spectator area with elevated seat and walkways enabling the fan to watch the play of all contestants simultaneously.

Such well-known players as Hogan, Snead and Demaret believe such a course may be constructed.

Johnny Dawson, one of the nation's foremost amateurs, says it's impossible, as a similar course was tried at Washington's Harding Park and flopped.

Johnny Revolta, one of the game's best-known veterans, claims it isn't golf, but Gene Saraznan thinks Ford's idea will revolutionize courses.

Among others who have been spoken to is Robert Trent Jones, the famous golf architect. Some years back Jones had an idea of small trains running around the course so fans could see everything, but this idea of a central seating point seemed to him much better.

Ford tells me that the course would be of championship caliber.

Last Olympic Decathlon Says Champ Bob Mathias

HELSINKI — (AP) — Young Bob Mathias says this is his last Olympic decathlon and his friends warn him it had better be his best.

It may take another world record-shattering performance for the strapping 21-year-old Stanford University athlete to beat out France's versatile Ignace Heinrich.

The hardy Frenchman was second to Mathias in the 1948 games at London, losing by only 165 points. Mathias scored 7,139 and Heinrich 6,974.

Dangerous Foe

"Heinrich has come on tremendously fast since the last Olympics," Brutus Hamilton, U. S. track and field coach, said today. "Potentially, he stands to beat Bob in four of the ten events and tie him in another. That means Bob will have to be at his best."

The grueling decathlon is scheduled July 25-26. Mathias is being warned he'd better carry a 300-point lead into the 1500 meter run, last of the tests, or face defeat. The metric mile is Heinrich's specialty.

Decathlon points are figured on a complicated system of comparing performance with a degree of excellence. Mathias held the world record of 8,042 points under the old system of scoring. In the U. S. Olympic trials recently he set a record under the new scoring system of 7,825 points, which would have been well above his old mark.

Too Rigorous

The Tulare, Calif., youth is a remarkable athletic specimen at six-feet-two and 185 pounds. But he has no intention of continuing the decathlon although he probably could be the world's best for years to come.

"The training is too rigorous," the Stanford backfield star said. "It takes months of steady work to get in shape and then I lose about 20 pounds on those two days of competition."

"One I'd rather concentrate on one of the specialties, like the discus. I've done 173 feet. With more work I probably could become an Olympic discus thrower."

Dropo Ties Major League Record

Indians Cut Yankee Lead

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Walt Dropo, the amiable "Moose" from Mooseport, Conn., once again is striking fear into the hearts of American league pitchers.

Dropo, who has experienced more ups and downs than a roller coaster in his bid for major league stardom, has been the hottest batter in the league since July 4th.

The husky first baseman of the Detroit Tigers slugged the penultimate home run in the series last night by tying a very rare major league record—12 consecutive hits. Pinksy Higgins set the record in 1938 with the Boston Red Sox—and Dropo is the first to equal the mark.

Davey Favored In Basilio Go

CHICAGO (AP)—Undeclared Chuck Davey, the college kid who made good as a pro, tonight takes a second swipe at a rugged "sleeper" who nearly wrecked his welterweight title campaign May 29.

Davey, stylish southpaw with a savage solar plexus punch, boxes a nationally-televised 10-rounder (9 p. m., EST.) against Carmen Basilio of Canasota, N. Y., at the Chicago Stadium.

Davey was established a 7 to 5 favorite.

It was the lightly-reckoned Basilio who 48 days ago walked out of a Syracuse ring with a 10-round verdict over Davey only to have the New York Athletic Commission rule the bout a draw later.

The decision was reversed because the referee, who voted for Basilio, turned in an incomplete scoring card. That preserved Davey's bid for a shot at Kid Gavilan's welter crown.

Basilio, who never has been floored in 43 bouts since he left military service in 1948, loudly has contended the technicality didn't change the fact he whipped Davey.

Ex-Michigan State and NCAA champion Davey, now unbeaten in 35 pro fights with 23 knockouts, admits he was fortunate to get the draw. But Chuck claims he regarded Basilio too much a tune-up foe between bouts with heralded Chico Vejar. He just wanted a workout. Instead he ran into a tartar.

Both times against Vejar, May 7 and June 25, Davey folded Chico like an accordion with ripping lefts to the stomach. Vejar managed to finish the first bout, although floored four times. In the second bout, a belly punch knocked him out in the fifth.

Basilio, however, is no clay pigeon. He's a mauling crowder of the type that annoys Davey, a dancing dandy, who likes to dart in himself to give full leverage to his stomach-stabbing left.

Basilio, who has won 31 bouts, 15 by knockouts, claims he can take Davey's best punches and wear him down for "another victory."

New Towns Rise Where David Killed Goliath

BUILDING housing beneath the mountains of Judea.

AP Newsfeatures Writer
JERUSALEM—The gradual re-juvenation of the Holy Land is now reaching the historic Valley of Ajalon where Joshua fought the Canaanites 3,500 years ago and where—some 500 years later—David slew the giant Goliath.

Today, this central Israel region is no longer called by its biblical name, but the western part of the "Jerusalem Corridor" leading from the fields and groves of the Jaffa-Tel Aviv coastal plain up to the mountains of Judea, to the monasteries of Ain Karem, (the birthplace of John the Baptist) and to Jerusalem.

While the 19-mile long and nine mile wide "Corridor" politically belongs to the State of Israel, the area to the north and south of it is now within the Jordan-administered part of Palestine. An armistice frontier—not yet made permanent by a peace treaty—separates the two territories.

Firing occasional skirmishes, usually caused by marauders, smugglers, or infiltrators, make the frontier audible. But that's no more than a very weak echo of the din of war heard four years ago when the Arab-Jewish fighting was at its height.

Road construction was already begun during the Arab-Jewish fighting. And no less than 40 new agricultural settlements and transitional camp villages have now been established there.

The population of the "Corridor" is at present about 10,000, almost all of them recent Jewish immigrants from Southern Arabia, North Africa, Iran and the Balkan countries. Only very few of them were ever before what they have now become: road builders, forest workers, farmers or artisans. On the whole, they make a success of their new professions, helped by the American United Jewish Appeal which provides the repayable budget for settlement and irrigation and all the technical assistance; by the Jewish National Fund "Faren Kayemeth" which gives the land and plants the forest; and finally by the state which in addition to road building organizes various services.

Four years ago—most of the "Corridor" was rocky, barren and utterly desolate. It may take another generation or two till all this has changed. But even now what has already been initiated in the old Judean landscape shows what this part of the Holy Land will one day be: a blossoming countryside with fields and farms.

Hermansville

Farley-Sargent
HERMANVILLE—The marriage of Miss Marilyn Jean Farley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Farley of Hermansville, and Dwight Lawrence Sargent of Spalding, son of the Russell Sargents, took place at a 10 a. m. ceremony July 3 at St. Francis Xavier Church in Spalding. The Rev. Bernard Karol officiated.

Mrs. Peter Kass was soloist and Mary Joy Schroeder, organist, of the wedding mass. Mixed flowers decorated the altar. The bride wore a beige suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink and yellow roses. Miss Joan Corriveau of Chippewa Falls, Wis., a cousin of the bridegroom, who was her attendant, wore a blue suit with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Ernest Dalla Costa of Wilson was best man.

The wedding breakfast and supper were served at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The newlyweds will live in Pontiac.

TELLTALE THEFT

Table-Top Stove Is Picnic Boon

HOT PICNIC MEALS can be cooked on this table-top stove, a civilian cousin of a smaller stove used widely by American soldiers.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Market Editor
When vacation days drag for the youngsters, and hot weather indoor cooking drags for Mother, there's nothing like a warm outdoor meal in woods or roadside park or on the beach. However, mothers don't relish building open fires, nor cooking over them. Furthermore, in many places they couldn't build fires if they wanted to, because of safety regulations.

But here's a simple way to fix hot nourishing food out of doors—just fill up a casserole with any one of a whole variety of complete-in-one-dish recipes and cook right on the picnic table with a table-top stove.

These table-top stoves are the civilian cousin of the Coleman pocket stoves almost every G.I. used in the war. They make their own gas from liquid fuel, light instantly and can be regulated just like the burner of a gas range.

Small enough to tuck away in a spare corner of the car trunk, they burn four to five hours with one filling of fuel. They boil a pint of water in little more than two minutes.

Casseroles may be started in the oven at home and then heated up at the picnic spot, or entirely cooked outdoors. Glass casseroles must be heatproof, however.

A good, substantial picnic standby is frankfurters and baked beans. But there's a big variety of wholesome recipes from which to choose.

Surprise Dad for the Fourth of July by whisking him away for an outdoor hot dinner—he'll like the change and you won't miss your hot kitchen.

There's a tuna fish and noodle dish everyone in the family will like. It's easy to fix for that outdoor meal:

Tuna Fish and Noodles With Mushroom Cream Sauce (5 servings)

One tablespoon chopped onion, 1 teaspoon butter or margarine, 1 can cream of mushroom soup, 1/2 to 1/3 cup milk, on 7-ounce can tuna fish, 2 cups cooked noodles, 3/4 cup crushed potato chips.

Cook onion in butter until soft; stir cream of mushroom soup, milk and onion together. Break tuna into chunks; mix lightly with soup mixture and noodles. Place in greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with potato chips. Peas and olives may be added, if desired.

For home use, bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) for 20-30 minutes. For picnics, either bake at home and heat up at picnic, or cook on table-top burner.

The Pony Express still rides in the state of Arizona.

Dwight D. In Line For Several Firsts

WASHINGTON — (AP)—George Washington may have been first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen, but if Dwight D. Eisenhower is elected president he'll be first in a lot of things, too.

The records show he would be the first president whose first name had only one syllable, his last as many as four; the first whose first name began with the letter D and his last with E.

Not only that, he would be the first president born in Texas, and the first General elected to the chief executive's post in the 20th century.

Of the 32 presidents in U. S. history, 17 first names show up only once on the list. There were two Andrews and Franklins, three Williams and Johns, and five James.
